Class of '94 Crisler Arena graduation sought

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Community School Board heard a request Monday night that it support the wish of the Class of 1994 that the June graduation ceremonies be staged in Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor, rather than the new high school athletic complex as planned.

Responding to a letter and comments from 1994 class president Staci Steffani, the school administration agreed to hold a meeting with Steffani, Romulus High School Principal Tom Dolan and various senior class representatives on the issue.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell said he would meet with the group to explore the options and admitted the issue had not been totally investigated at this time.

Steffani informed the board that the senior class took a survey in November to determine class members wishes on graduation sites this summer.

More than 81 percent supported having the ceremonies conducted as in the past at Crisler Arena, while only 13.2 percent wanted them at the high school facility. Five percent of the senior class reported they were undecided.

Those opposed to the athletic complex site complained it would limit the number of their guests and that the lack of air conditioning could make it uncomfortable on a warm day in June.

Steffani said the seniors also complained that the high school seats are bleacher seats, which are uncomfortable for long ceremonies, while those at Crisler Arena are auditorium seats.

"We would like to have a choice in the matter, as did last year's graduating class. It is after all our graduating ceremony," Steffani wrote.

Murder defendants wait in County Jail for hearing

Two murder suspects, a man and woman, charged with the Nov. 20, 1993 beating death of former Romulus resident William Mancine, had their preliminary hearing postponed yesterday in the 33rd District Court of Woodhaven until Feb. 1.

The case was remanded to Records Court and the pair remain in Wayne County Jail in lieu of bail.

The pair surrendered to Detroit police on Jan. 18 and were turned over to Flat Rock detectives.

Arrested and charged with first degree premeditated murder and felony murder were Lee Nelson, 29, of Newport, and Kelly Ann Gorsline, 26, of Detroit.

Gorsline also was charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder on a second victim, Mancine's girl friend.

Bail earlier was set during their arraignment on the charges in 33rd District Court at $400,000 cash for Nelson and $450,000 cash for Gorsline. Neither defendant could post bail.

Mancine was reportedly attacked by the two suspects in his girlfriend's Flat Rock apartment shortly after 4 a.m. on Nov. 20.

The girlfriend, Michelle Pomeroy, 25, of Riverside Place in Flat Rock, also was beaten about the face. She was treated and released at Sea-way Hospital in Trenton.

Mancine, 31, died of severe head injuries after being

Key court decision due today on well

While the scheduled trial of charges against the Environmental Disposal Services (EDS) pressed by the city of Romulus will not be heard today, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Claudia House Morcom could decide to end the emotional battle by declaring a summary disposition on behalf of the city.

According to Romulus City Attorney Barry Seifman, Morcom could also declare a partial summary disposition or reject the city's request altogether and months of litigation could follow.

The city is seeking a permanent injunction against EDS in an effort to block any further development of the $6.1 million non-hazardous/hazardous liquid waste well project off Wahrman and Grant roads.

Seifman said that the judge's decision will be placed on the city hot line (941-0666) this afternoon so that Romulus residents can be kept abreast of the well controversy developments.

Late last week Morcom ruled that if the case actually goes to trial, she, rather than a jury, will rule on the evidence and motions presented by both sides in the highly technical case.

Monday night a new public furor broke out at the Romulus City Council meeting, as it was revealed that EDS (through a professional survey agency) is conducting a survey of local residents opinions on issues surrounding the $100,000 the city has allocated for continuing the legal battle with EDS.

Carol Bales, wife of former school board member Daniel Bales, attended the council meeting and expressed her outrage over the way the survey is conducted.

"I received one of those calls and it outraged me," Bales said looking directly at the council members "and it didn't make any of you look good."

Bales claimed that the way the survey is conducted it "aludes that the city actually is doing the survey. I asked one of the survey supervisors if EDS was sponsoring the survey and I was told 'that is confidential'," Bales continued.

"The longer you allow the questioning to go on," Bales said, "the madder you get."

Comments by Bales and other city residents, who claimed they received similar survey calls, also irritated City Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks. Glaring down at Vincent Schager, EDS operations manager, Banks snarled "this is another fraud perpetrated on local residents." Then she angrily asked "can't you be fair?"

Schager stepped to the microphone and admitted that a professional firm had been hired to survey the residents feelings on injection well issues and the city battle against it.

Schager also promised that EDS would turn over the list of questions asked by survey workers to Seifman.

Seifman had stated he would consider turning the matter over the the Michigan State Police.

Earlier in the meeting, Mayor Beverly McAnally said she was getting phone calls Monday morning asking why the city was conducting such a survey. She too demanded to know what the questions were on the survey list.

Critics target councilman

Critics of City Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron's involvement in council action involving Environmental Disposal Services continued to demand that Bergeron not vote or discuss the issue at the regular or executive council sessions.

Dan Bussard, who describes himself as a friend of Bergeron, stated Monday night, "I am not happy with Pete's actions and I'd like to see him removed from involvement in this issue, but not from the council."

"The time is past due for Pete to get out of this issue."

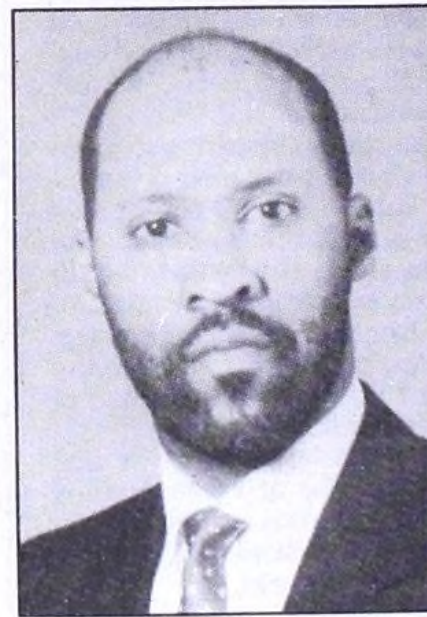

Bussard presented a packet of material to council members which included a copy of a $2,000 check presented to Bergeron's in-laws, John and Mary Ann Ryznar, in connection with the potential purchase of property for the $6.1 million environmental well project.

Former Councilman Russell Lambert criticized the fact that the check was dated Nov. 12, 1990, a full month before the council members voted on the environmental well issue.

While complimenting the city council members for actions in court regarding the well issue, Lambert corrected a statement that all council members voted for the $100,000 allotment for the city legal costs in the matter.

"Pete was the only one who did not vote for the fund transfer in the matter," Lambert said.

Bergeron, who had left the meeting shortly before the criticism began, said Tuesday morning, "If I had known it was going to be 'grill Pete' time, I would have stayed and defended myself."

The veteran councilman added, "I've answered all these questions before, do I have to do it every week? This group is on a witch-hunt. I make a good living in my profession and people can't bribe me."

Bergeron continued to state that he took no part in the negotiations for the Ryznar property, despite claims in a legal statement made during earlier litigation between separate parties in the property issue.

"All I did in this case was pick up some papers and deliver them to my father-in-law," he said.

"Because it is printed in a legal letter does that guarantee that it is true?" Bergeron asked.

"I refuse to be placed on trial by these people," Bergeron said. "I did what I always do in my current position in this matter-I tried to promote the city of Romulus."

A private citizen, Ray

Fowler, also complained that he and some other city residents "feel betrayed" by the belated actions of the city in the environmental well issue.

"We looked at you as the buffer between big business and us," Fowler said to the council members. "We didn't care if the citizens didn't totally understand the issues, as long as you understood them."

Councilman Ellis Pennington reacted sharply to several of the comments made by various citizens.

"I don't know what you want your city to do. We voted to go to court and voted to allot $100,000 for our legal fees in the matter," he said.

Pennington added that the council members couldn't reply to some of the comments made by citizens, "since we are in litigation on this matter. We want to settle this by following the law, we can't settle it with a shotgun."

Councilman Randy Gear commented, "People have the right to express their views on this subject either pro or con."

"We have to hear you out. There is a lot of emotion out there and people are venting their frustrations, just like those people in California, who were hit recently by the earthquake," Gear said.

Pennington said he felt he was misinterpreted on the issue and said, "I'd like to see this council chamber filled every week."

"I'm retired, so I could sit here all night and listen to you, but I get the feeling that you are trying to impress the public out there that the council is not doing anything to solve this issue," Pennington concluded.

Weather keeps city workers busy during cold spell

Westland

With Michigan temperatures reaching a record-breaking low of minus 20 degrees on Wednesday and temperatures dipping below zero over the past week, nearly 20 water main breaks have occurred in Westland.

"We've had numerous water main breaks. Since last Wednesday we've had between 15 and 20 water breaks," Department of Public Service Director Carl Clark said.

Although the main breaks occurred throughout the city, no major roads were affected, Clark added.

The extreme temperatures, coupled with snow Tuesday evening, led to 17 automobile accidents in the city, none of which were serious injury accidents according to Westland police Sgt. Pete Brokas.

Brokas said the accidents were focused on the shopping center areas bordering Wayne, Joy and Ford roads.

One Westland resident commended the DPS for their fine performance during the snow season at the Tuesday night Westland City Council meeting.

"I had the misfortune of driving through three counties recently. I would like to say that Westland DPS outshined the rest," Westland resident Jim Chuck said.

Westland City Council member Glenn Anderson also congratulated the DPS on a job well done.

"I commend the DPS for putting in long hours to make sure the job was done," Anderson said.

Wayne

Old Man Winter is definitely leaving a lasting impression with the Wayne Department of Public Works this season.

Last week between 15 to 20 water main breaks occurred within the community.

The worst break took place Jan. 18 at Newburgh Road and Glenwood, according to Gary Clark, acting superintendent for the Public Works Department.

"It took 40 hours to fix that one," Clark said. "No residents were affected, however, we had to shut down a few businesses in Westland. It was a 20-inch water main that was affected."

Since July, approximately 40 water main breaks occurred in the community. When freezing temperatures exist, Clark said, water main breaks occur most frequently.

"The main reason it happens would be when it gets cold and when there is frost in the ground," Clark said. "Usually the snow helps to insulate the area underground."

Has this been the worst year for water main breaks in Wayne?

"About two years ago we had the most which was about 90 breaks," Clark said. "We're getting about one a day now."

The Wayne Public Works Department officials received applause last week from city council members for their dedication to the job and efficient work.

The cold, however, didn't affect just the pipes underground. Icy road conditions also caused a handful of vehicle accidents, according to Wayne police Lt. Dan Randall.

"We had several accidents, but there were no major injuries," Randall said.

Canton

Mother Nature has not been kind to Michigan drivers within the last week.

According to Canton Towns-

When the snow blows, it ices up areas. A lot of vehicles hit a dry patch and started going, then when snow blew across the road, they panicked, hit the brakes and slid on the ice.

- Officer Tammie Colling

hip police community relations officer, Tammie Colling, 58 accidents occurred in the area between Jan. 14 and Jan. 19, with Tuesday and Wednesday accounting for 30 alone.

"When the snow blows, it ices up areas," said Colling. "A lot of vehicles hit a dry patch and started going, then when snow blew across the road, they panicked, hit the brakes and slid on the ice."

Despite the high number of recent accidents, which is double the number the police department is accustomed to experiencing, Colling said there were no fatalities, only minor injuries.

Canton Township officials reported one major water main break as a result of the weather. Residences connected with the Lilley Road main may have experienced some difficulties receiving water due to the break which occurred just south of Joy Road.

Inkster

An early-morning fire Wednesday of suspicious origin routed some 60 residents of an Inkster apartment, leaving some victims rushing to find protection from a record freezing cold.

The blaze started in a first-floor utility room in the eight-unit complex, located at 1311 Middlebelt Road.

No one was reported injured in the fire. The blaze caused about $45,000 damage to the building and contents, according to Inkster Fire Chief Victor R. Boulanger, who said that the extreme cold weather caused problems for firefighters.

The weather hit a record 12 degrees below zero, with a wind chill factor of approximately 45 degrees below zero.

"Our guys were frozen," Boulanger added. "None, fortunately, were hurt. The residents managed to get out of the building without any problems. Those who didn't have friends or relatives to go to were sent to local motels for the day. But it took some time to get these people relocated."

Some of the families who had small children were referred to the local Red Cross and the Salvation Army because, they said, they had nowhere to stay.

The fire started in the utility room on the first floor at around 4 a.m. There was extensive smoke and fire damage. Fire officials would not reveal the cause of the blaze, but said, "It is currently under investigation."

Boulanger did say, "The fire is of suspicious nature, but our investigation isn't complete."

The apartment complex is owned by Northville resident, Goyal K. Ashor. He was not available for comment at the press time.

Pre-trials slated in bank robbery

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

Pre-trials have been scheduled for two Westland residents charged with robbery in federal court.

Georgia McDaniel and Kenneth Williams allegedly robbed the Standard Federal Bank in Wayne on Michigan Avenue approximately at 10 a.m. Jan. 14.

A Feb. 2 pre-trial has been scheduled for McDaniel and a Jan. 25 pre-trial has been scheduled for Williams.

Both defendants were arraigned Jan. 18 in federal court. McDaniel was a former employee of Standard Federal Bank, according to Wayne police Sgt. Michael Sumeracki who is conducting the investigation.

"The woman was released on a tether," said Sumeracki. "The woman (who committed the robbery) handed a note to a teller which said 'I have a gun. Give me all your money.'"

After the teller gave the woman approximately $2,200, she exited the building and entered a 1978 Pontiac Lemans, according to Sumeracki.

"McDaniel was arrested at her home in Westland on Glenwood about 3:50 p.m. the same day after we received information from a bank teller who said she recognized her from having worked with her four years ago as a teller," Sumeracki said. "We were able to track down where she lived. As we were arresting her, her boyfriend pulled up, and we arrested him as well."

Sumeracki said the perpetrator did not have a gun at the time of the incident. He also stated the Westland woman said she wanted the money to purchase drugs.

After the arrests took place, Wayne police turned over the case to the Federal Bureau of Investigation officials.

If both defendants are found guilty of robbery, they could receive up to life in prison without parole, according to Sumeracki.

Congressman to retire

On Tuesday, Congressman William D. Ford (D-13) announced that he will retire at the end of the 103rd Congress.

Ford served 30 years in Congress from the presidency of Lyndon Johnson through the current administration of Bill Clinton.

"My polls tell me that my district is a stronger Democratic district than it was two years ago, and that my chances of re-election are excellent. But time has snuck up on me," Ford said. "As I approach my 67th birthday, it is time for me to focus on my remaining years. I want to spend more time doing the things I enjoy and concentrating on my family whose sacrifices, because of my career, have been immense and often painful."

Ford, the current chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, promised to work tirelessly during the remainder of his term to fulfill the goals of President Clinton to improve the quality of life and the personal security of all Americans.

William D. Ford

The congressman began his career as a Taylor Township justice of the peace from 1955-57, and was elected to the Michigan Senate in 1963. In 1964, Ford was elected to the House of Representatives where he has served for the past 30 years.

Police and school officials are asking local parents to join them in the battle to keep Downriver teen gang problems from spreading into Romulus.

In an open four-page letter mailed to parents from Acting Police Chief Robert Brown and Superintendent Dr. William Bedell, local residents are informed "although Romulus does not have a gang problem" (at this time), efforts need to be continued to make sure such gang activities do not pop up in Romulus.

Since gang life styles often lead to increased drug use, the police and school leaders are taking important steps to curtail any such activity here.

All school building administrators are aggressively enforcing the new Student Codes of Conduct to prohibit gang activity and Romulus police are remaining in constant communication with 17 Downriver police departments and Detroit law enforcement groups.

Parents are being urged to know their children's friends and not to let them associate with those who display gang member mentality.

Other key elements for parents include: occupy your children's time with positive activities, develop good communication skills with your children, spend quality time with your children, set limits for your family members, participate in community events and be a good example.

Murder

transported to Seaway Hospital.

According to Flat Rock Detective Lt. Stephen Boteler, the two murder suspects turned themselves into Detroit Police Department First Precinct authorities at 2:30 a.m. Jan. 18.

When Detroit officials found the pair were wanted on murder warrants, Flat Rock police were notified. Boteler and Lt. Charles Humphris traveled to Detroit and returned the suspects to Flat Rock.

Boteler said Mancine was fatally injured when he was struck repeatedly with a piece of furniture. The motive for the attack reportedly was "revenge," Boteler said, as Gorsline allegedly was Mancine's former girlfriend.

An earlier suspect, Ronald Smith of Detroit, was arrested on murder charges in December. He was later freed and charges were dropped, prior to the latest arrests.

4 heart machines donated

Four life-saving heart starting machines have been donated to the Romulus Fire Department by the Community Emergency Medical Service Inc. (CEMS) of Farmington Hills.

CEMS officials Greg Beauchemin and Diane Witkowski appeared at the Monday night council meeting to announce the gift and reveal the training program currently being conducted with local firefighters.

Witkowski said 80 percent of the local firefighters have already been trained with the life saving devices and the remainder are being trained this week.

Actual use of the reconditioned devices will begin this Friday, with one of the units being assigned at each of the city's four fire stations.

The current models called "Heart Start 2000" cost $7,000 when they are new. This is the fourth year the medical group is donating such units to Michigan area fire departments.

"The exciting thing is that they do save lives," Beauchemin said.

The three key elements in saving lives today are: having trained firefighters, public awareness and proper technology, he said.

"More lives should be saved now in Romulus," Witkowski said, "as about 17 percent of heart attack victims were saved when they received quick automatic defibrillation assistance at local hospitals."

"Now that the service can be provided by firefighters themselves (a saving of 20-25 minutes) the success rate jumps to 50 to 70 percent," she concluded.

Mayor Beverly McAnally praised Fire Chief William Greenslait for his efforts in obtaining the needed equipment and cited the local volunteers "who are always willing to undergo more up to date training efforts."

Young gunman expelled

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A ninth-grade Stevenson Junior High School student was expelled by the Wayne-Westland School Board Monday night for bringing a loaded BB gun to school, which was fired in the lunchroom cafeteria on Dec. 2, according to Greg Baracy, assistant superintendent to general administration.

A second Stevenson student, who received the gun from the expelled student, is going through a due process hearing with the district to determine what disciplinary action will be taken against that student, Baracy said.

School district personnel were notified of the incident by a parent on Dec. 3. According to Gary Dell, the assistant to the superintendent of schools, the weapon was concealed under the youth's jacket and was passed to another student during class. Three students admitted to witnessing the transaction, Dell added.

The expelled student admitted to administrators that he brought the weapon to school, however, the student who allegedly received the gun during class denied the allegations, Dell said.

During the course of the day, Baracy said, "It (gun) was pointed at another student." Baracy added that the gun was discharged into a hamburger at a lunchroom table.

"The potential of bodily harm is there with any weapon," Baracy said.

According to Baracy, walk-through metal detectors were used at the Wayne Memorial versus John Glenn High School basketball game last week and no weapons were found on any person. Metal detector wands are also in place at the secondary school, Baracy said, and no weapons have been discovered.

City police fees increased

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Following a survey of police department fees in surrounding communities, the Romulus City Council Monday night voted to slightly hike rates for copies of police reports, fingerprints and vehicle inspections.

The fee hike, that excludes senior citizens, was requested by Acting Police Chief Robert Brown following a survey done by Sgt. John Myers.

The surveyed communities included Allen Park, Canton Township, Huron Township, Livonia, Southgate, Taylor, Van Buren Township, Wayne, Wyandotte and Westland.

The approved fee hikes include: copies of police reports (up to three pages) from $3 to $4; copies of reports two years and older (up to three pages) from $5 to $6; fingerprints from $4 to $6; letters of clearance from $2 to $3, and vehicle inspections from $3 to $5.

No change was requested in gun permit fees that range from $8 to $15.

The City Council also approved two bid offerings: one for the resurfacing of two tennis courts at Romulus Park No. 1 and the other for computer equipment.

On the recommendation of Finance Director Lynn A. Conway the council approved awarding the tennis court bid to Wayne Asphalt Paving, the lowest of five bidders, for $12,257.

The computer bid award was split between Sterling Computer Systems Inc. of West Bloomfield for $10,228 and Quality Computer Systems of Livonia for $2,154 the lowest of six bidders.

Conway explained that "all existing equipment that is being replaced has been designated to be used somewhere within the city."

The council also authorized the letting of bids for a salt spreader, a traffic control arrow board, limestone, gravel, fill sand and top soil.

10K run will be restarted

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

After a year of absence, the popular 10K Run will return to the Michigan Week celebration here and any profits will be turned over to the Lupus Foundation.

Dorothy A. West is the latest inspiration behind the 10K Run effort approved Monday night by the City Council.

In her letter to the council, West stated, "for approximately 10 years, the run had been a traditional event during Michigan Week, but was cancelled in 1993 for lack of directorship."

West continued "with local, state and nationwide interest in running increasing significantly, it seems somewhat of a travesty to let the run die for lack of leadership."

West, who has been both a runner and volunteer in past Romulus 10K Runs, stated the local race "was touted as one of the best in the state and it surely was one of the most enjoyable."

"With my base of knowledge on running and the support and management of the Ann Arbor Track Club (of which I am a member), the run can be successfully re-established,"

she said.

West said she has gained the support of Mayor Beverly McAnally, Kathy Darnell of the Michigan Week Festival Committee, Mary Rutkowski of the Downriver Lupus Foundation and several local businesses.

She said the plans are "to name the run The Romulus Michigan Week Run for Lupus."

West asked for the council and community's "encouragement and moral support, as I am sure that the run will be a success and will enhance the already positive image of the city."

Alternate court is proposed

Although fences are being mended between the 34th District Court and the five communities it serves, the possibility of some members establishing an off-shoot of the court is still possible.

Tension has existed between the communities and the court since it was reported that $270,000 in court funds was missing. In March, the former court administrator and her assistant were placed on paid leaves and several months later the administrator resigned and the assistant's position was abolished.

No charges have been filed against anyone, and members of the five communities have complained that they have been "stonewalled" when requesting information on the status of the investigation.

The newly hired administrator Michael Ramsey and Chief Judge Felix Rogalle met with the District Control Unit (DCU) representatives on Tuesday morning.

"I'm not dropping the idea of establishing a 34B court. I've talked to (Rep. Curtis) Hertel, (Rep. Deborah) Whyman and (Sen. William) Faust about it," said Sumpter Township Supervisor Marvin Banotai.

"I'm pleased with the new administrator and with the openness, but I'm not buying out of the idea of an option. I'm holding with Marv," said Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jakokes. "All we want to know is if we are moving in the right direction. We want to know about the missing $270,000 and if there was a conspiracy."

Jakokes called for an end to the "us and them" mentality of the court and the five communities, saying, "Now, it's just us. We can work together."

Huron Township Supervisor Christine Gamber, who serves as DCU chairman for the 34th District Court, noted that the five communities are not anxious to break from the court.

"Not, if we can rely on it being run efficiently and legally," Gamber said, "but, we are still considering alternate measures if we cannot be satisfied."

Ramsey pledged to keep an "open door" policy and to continue his implementation of safeguards on money handling procedures.

CITY OF INKSTER

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

City of Inkster
2121 Inkster Road
Inkster, MI 48141
(313) 563- 9760

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS: On or about February 11, 1994, the above named City will request the State of Michigan to release Federal Funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-383) for the following project:

Rib House Inc. Project
To establish a meat processing plant
Inkster, Michigan - Wayne County
Census Tract 5702

Finding of No Significant Impact

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly the City of Inkster has decided not prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (P.L. 91-190).

The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:

1. The project will develop forty-three new skilled and semi skilled jobs available to low and moderate income persons.
2. The socioeconomic impact of this project is positive as it will increase the city's job base, personal and property tax base, generate jobs and income accessible to low and moderate income persons, particularly residents in the City of Inkster, and provide retraining opportunities.
3. The project implements the city's Economic Development Strategy and its Downtown Development Plan activities.
4. The adverse effects of the project can be mitigated through project management and contractual requirements being implemented during construction. Further, the City of Inkster has established an Economic Development Corporation which will monitor the job development and business development activities of the project.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the proposed project has been made by the City of Inkster which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying upon request at the Community Development Department between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Inkster to the Office of the Undersigned or Community Development Department on or before February 10, 1994. All such comments so received will be considered and the City of Inkster will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the proposed project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Release of Funds

The City of Inkster will undertake the project described above with Community Development Block Grant funds from the State of Michigan under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Inkster is certifying to the State of Michigan that the City of Inkster and Edward Bivens, Jr., in his official capacity as Mayor consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the City of Inkster may use the Block Grant funds and the State will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

OBJECTIONS TO STATE RELEASE OF FUNDS

The State of Michigan will accept an objection to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the certifying officer or other officer of applicant approved by the State of Michigan; or (b) that applicant's environmental review record for the project indicated omission of a required decision of finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted to the State of Michigan, Department of Commerce, Office of Federal Grants, P.O. Box 30225, Lansing, Michigan 48909.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the State. No objection received after February 28, 1994 will be considered by the State.

Arbor Drugs wins council approval

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Despite a recommendation for denial from the city administration, the Westland City Council members cast a unanimous vote to approve a site plan to construct an Arbor Drug store in Hunter Park Plaza, located at the northeast corner of Warren and Venoy roads in Westland.

Mayor Robert J. Thomas said he was opposed to the development, but realized the council had a legal obligation to approve the site plan.

"The recommendation is more my personal stance on development. I know you have to approve this," Thomas said.

At a previous council meeting in late December, Thomas said many large drug store chains have closed down in the city. However, city attorney Angelo Plakas added that if the site plan met all requirements of the ordinance, legally the council must approve the plan or the city could be taken to court.

Council members originally approved a Special Land Use permit at a Sept. 7 study session contingent upon developers enclosing the dumpster, cleaning debris and maintaining the landscaping on the easterly portion of the 6.5 acre property. Developers were instructed to provide screening on the north side of the property and to construct a fence bordering neighboring houses.

According to Planning Director Tod Kilroy, developers have resolved lighting concerns, the dumpster has been moved closer to the building and landscaping has been completed on the northern boundary.

"We've addressed any outstanding issues. We've gone beyond what was requested," project developer Victor Ansara said.

Citizen concern was discussed at an earlier meeting, causing the site plan approval to be postponed. Neighbors residing near the property complained that the site was not kept clean and the boundary fence was not secure enough to prevent rats and other small animals from getting on their property.

However, no citizen protest was heard at the Jan. 18 meeting when the site plan was approved.

Board members to review meetings act

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Following accusations that Wayne-Westland School board members may have violated the Open Meetings Act, the board agreed to conduct a special meeting to review their legal responsibilities.

Board member Laurel Raisanen raised the issue during the Monday night board meeting, noting Board Vice President Mathew McCusker as having the most experience with the Open Meetings Act. "We have a new board except for Mr. McCusker. He's the only one to negotiate an open contract," Raisanen said.

Raisanen said perhaps McCusker could help the other board members understand the act.

According to Raisanen, at times the board has not been in compliance with the time meetings are scheduled to begin and added that if closed session confidentiality is violated, legal action should be taken.

"If closed session confidentiality is broken, I think we should investigate state law," Raisanen said.

Too great a risk

It may very soon become a felony in this state to use a deadly weapon to flee interrogation by a police officer. In the past 10 years, 36 innocent bystanders or uninvolved motorists have been killed as a result of high-speed police chases in the Metro Detroit area.

Any vehicle operated at 50, 60, 75 or 85 mph is a deadly weapon, even a police car. Not only are innocent bystanders and the public at large in jeopardy during these chases, the police officers themselves are taking their lives in their very hands as they attempt to stop fleeing drivers leading them on a perilous chase.

We don't think this is a danger which should be inherent to their work. We agree with the proponents of this new legislation that fleeing a police officer in a vehicle should merit some very, very harsh penalties indeed.

We cannot applaud efforts of state lawmakers to increase penalties for ignoring a police officer's order to stop loudly enough. Presently, members of the Michigan House of Representatives are considering two proposals, (House Bills 4060 and 4703) which would make fleeing from a police officer in a motor vehicle a felony and greatly increase penalties for such a violation. These bills would:

- Make fleeing a police officer a felony regardless of whether an injury occurs;
- Make property used in a crime of fleeing or eluding a law enforcement officer subject to the forfeiture laws of the state;
- Make fleeing violators who exceed the speed limit by more than 30 mph or who operate a motor vehicle with reckless disregard for the safety of any individual, guilty of a felony punishable by imprisonment for up to four years or a fine of up to $2,000, or both;
- Revoke the operator's license or chauffeur's license if an individual is convicted of a fleeing violation; and
- Create a commission with the duty of providing a state-wide model policy for police officers to follow when pursuing criminals.

We are strongly in favor of all these measures and urge our local residents to support this legislation.

We feel the only means of better protecting innocent citizens is to make the penalty for the action which threatens them too severe to risk by even the most hardened criminal.

We think these measures will save lives and diminish the ever-present risks faced by police officers on the job. We would hope that when adopted, these new regulations would be strictly enforced by judges and widely publicized so that the idea of fleeing from a police officer would be a matter of some consequence—one that could cost a driver his vehicle, his freedom, his driver's license or at the very least a healthy fine.

We support the measures and hope our elected officials will do the same.

A word of thanks

They were everywhere last week.

It was 15 degrees below zero with a wind-chill factor of 40 below zero and they were out on the roadways, at the sites of the multitude of water main breaks and up on utility poles attempting to restore lost electrical power.

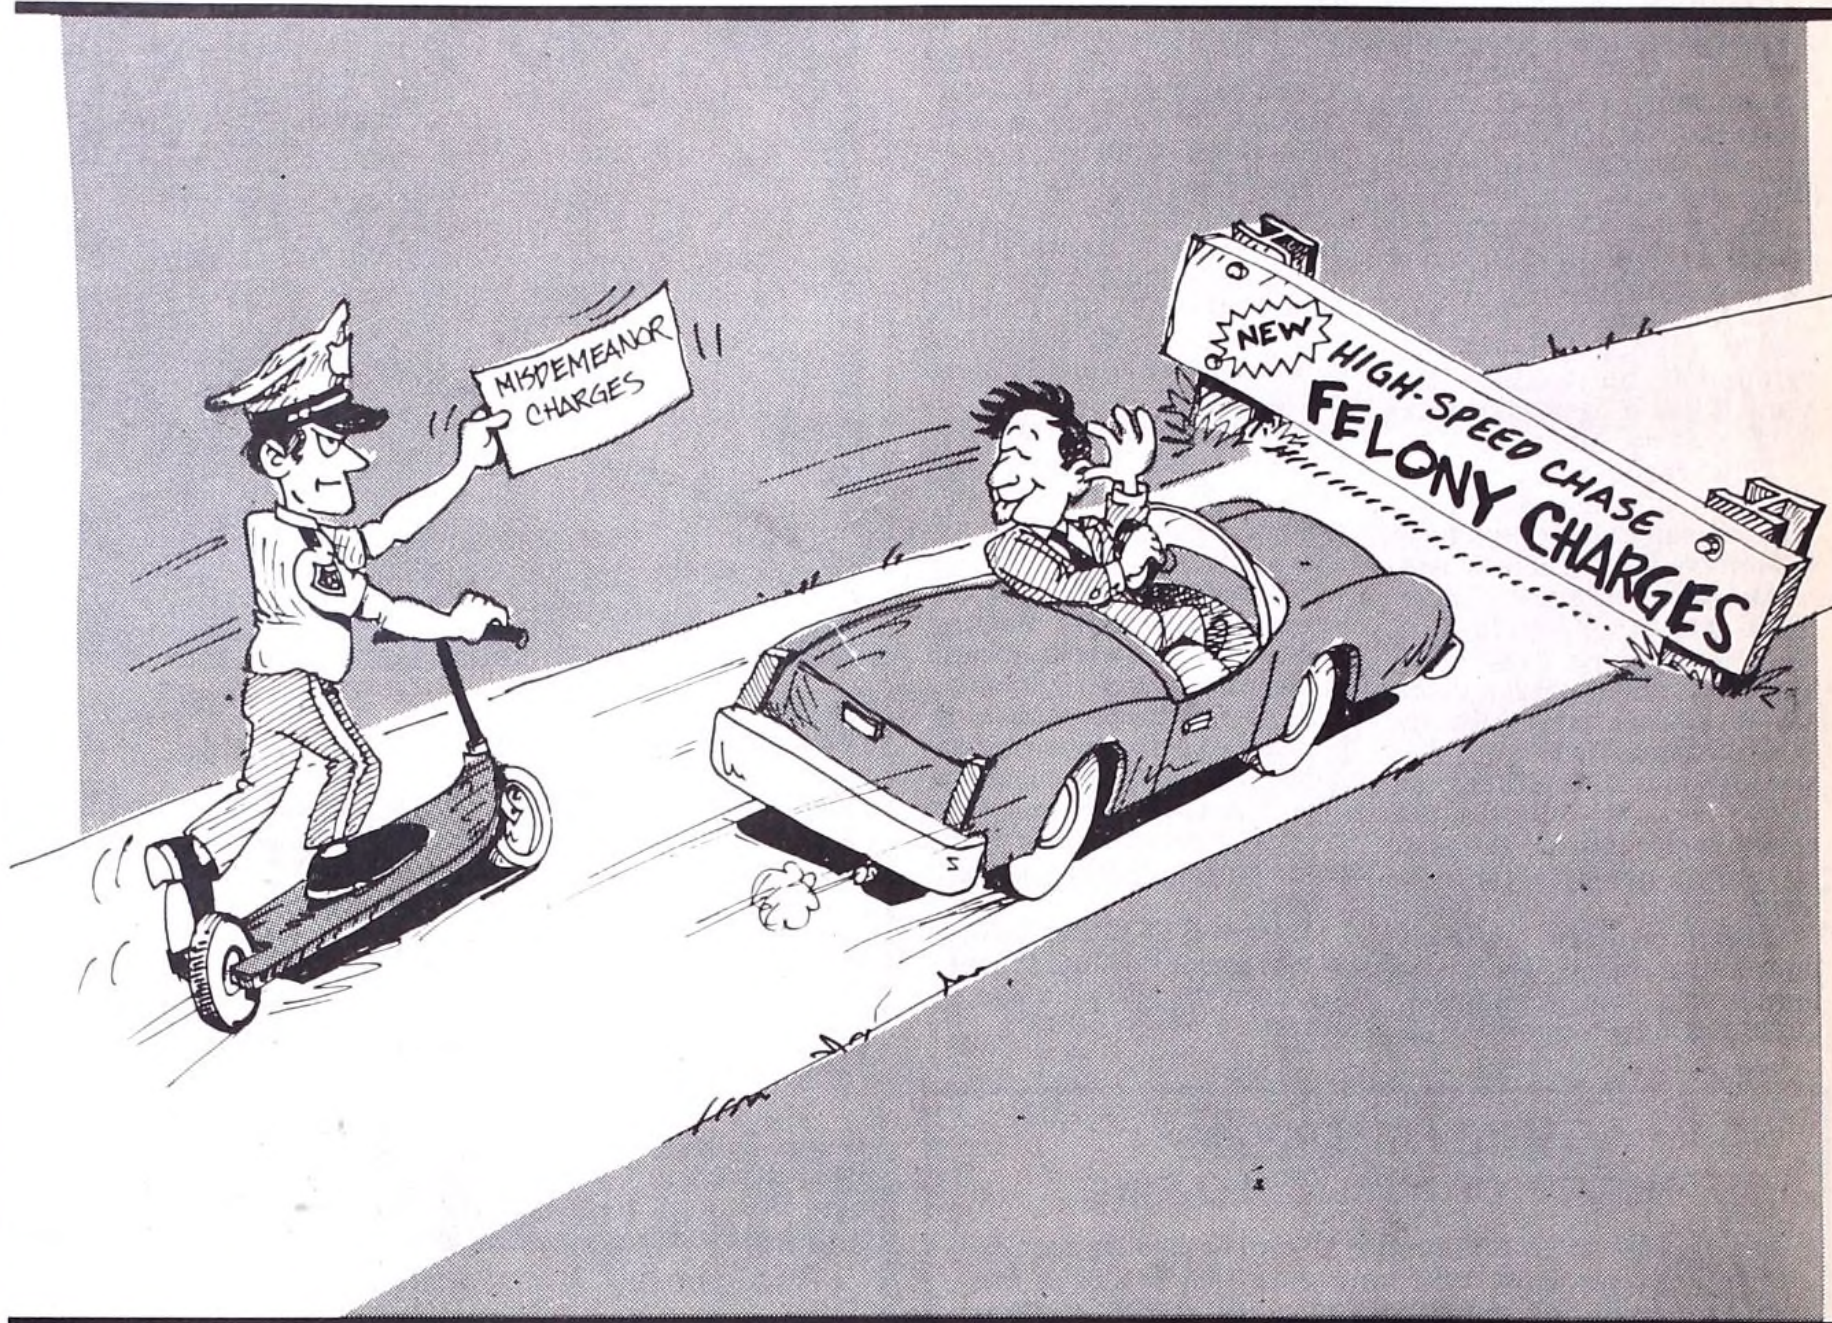

We saw them with their eyelids frozen closed and icicles dangling from their clothing—but they kept on.

The men and women of the are departments of public safety and service all deserve the gratitude of each of us for the herculean efforts exhibited last week. They braved the cold, the wind and the snow and ice to continue to do their jobs and in many cases, went far out of their way to aid stranded motorists, those without water and those involved in minor traffic accidents.

They didn't let the cold stop them—and many of them knew they were needed more desperately during this time than at any other. And they responded to that need, quietly and efficiently.

So to each of them who braved the weather, we say thanks. Thanks for the repaired water lines, the defrosted pipes, the help getting a wrecker, the ride to work and for turning the electricity back on.

That quiet kind of dedication is the stuff real heroes are made of.

Custodian responds to salary story

To the editor:
I would like to respond to a recent article in the opinion section of your newspaper. I don't remember the exact definition of "yellow journalism"; however, I believe it refers to slanting material with half-truths and omission of pertinent material in order to get a favorable opinion to your point of view. The article I am referring to is the one pertaining to school custodian's wages being higher than that of some teacher. The article also implied that custodians also had a great deal of time off during school recesses.

I work for the Plymouth-Canton school district, and I would like to clarify some facts about our pay scale and methods of promotion. It is true that a custodian is our district makes more than a first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree; however, the teacher's pay is based on eight months rather than 12 months, like ours. Teachers can also increase their pay by attaining more sophisticated or specialized training such as masters or doctorate degrees. A custodian's base pay is $27,000 per 12-month year. The only pay increase comes through advancement. Therefore, on an average, it takes approximately five to six years to attain the position which pays approximately $29,000 per year. I hope you can see that a $2,000 increase after six years is well behind the pro rata system the teachers work under. It takes approximately 10 to 12 years for a custodian to reach maximum level which is plant engineer with a base pay of $31,000 per annum. We at top level make approximately 20,000 less per year based on a 12-month system. Please understand this is not teacher bashing; they earn the wage just as we do, but to imply that custodians make the same pay is ludicrous.

Another point I would like to take issue with is the concept that the schools operate on skeleton crews during break periods. The only time of year that I have seen a dramatic decrease in staffing (other than by layoff) is during the Christmas vacation. This, however, is not a paid holiday time. Many custodians choose to use earned vacation days in conjunction with their holiday days to get an extended vacation. At no other time, in the years I have been in the district, to we operate on skeleton crews. The vast majority of bulk work (scrubbing floors, waxing, painting, gum scraping, carpet cleaning, plumbing repairs, light changing, electric repair etc.) happens when schools are not in session.

Finally, the custodial staff in my district are hard-working family and community-oriented people who care about the public and their children. Custodians are chosen by the substitute process just like teachers. Depending on the individual and the circumstances, subs can substitute a very long time—even up to four years before getting hired. During this sub period your pay is half of a regular custodian's and without benefits. Your shifts vary as well—you can work midnights, a few days, then afternoons, then days. If short on subs, you could work two different jobs in one day. Custodian bashing is easy because we are on the low end of the financial scale, and everyone figures we will sit back and take it. Major companies, both public and private, usually focus on the low end hourly employees as the problem, but as Ross Perot says, "it almost never is."

A copy of this letter will be sent to each school in my district to show we had the courage to respond just as I hope you have the courage to print this response. Thank you for your consideration.

First Night efforts receive praise

To the editor:
I feel compelled to write a letter to tell the city when something great happens. Friday evening First Night in Wayne took place. Whoever thought of this and planned it should be commended. It was a wonderful way to spend New Year's Eve with your children or parents. Parents could take their kids or kids take their parents for some super entertainment.

I saw and heard the Silver String dulcimer group for the first time. Their music was breathtaking, and Bess Bonier the jazz pianist, fantastic! The country band was lots of fun. The quartet who sang carols during lunch were very good.

There were other programs around Wayne which I didn't have time to go to. I'm sure they were good too.

The whole concept of this New Year's Eve evening was outstanding. So thank you everyone who took part in planning, performing, and making those wonderful Sloppy Joe's and providing good, clean, fun for a city.

Recycling puzzles resident

To the editor:
The average citizen used to turn in papers, oil, glass, scrap metal, batteries of different kinds, paints, rags and get a small fee for some. Now if you don't drive, or are a senior citizen, or handicapped, or as a city, we just put it into the garbage. We don't have places to store, save, collect, so waste disposal has gone backwards, not forward, in Wayne.

Couldn't a youth group with good leaders help? Where's the information? What's really being done to save our water?, Air? What shape are our sewers in? Drainage systems? Our water lines?

Are trees really being saved? Landfills? How long will they last? Communication? Priorities?

Help us all! Unite. Work together. References! Tax money could be more efficiently spent.

Legislator blasts teacher actions

To the editor:
Centerline teachers were recently rewarded with huge pay increases after they illegally went on strike for nine days last fall. Since teachers do not suffer any pay loss when striking, they can hold hostage parents, students, school boards and taxpayers to get exorbitant pay increases. Centerline teachers will now take over $58,000 for working less than 180 days a year.

Michigan teachers don't lose any pay when they go on strike since the school year is simply extended into the summer or other student vacation time. Teacher strikes disrupt parents' work schedules, family vacations and take money from kids by shorting student summer vacation work days. Teachers aren't worried about their illegal strikes at public schools since 40 percent of teachers send their kids to private schools.

It's time to end this teacher special privilege and have teachers lose a day's pay for each day of strike like the UAW and every one else in Michigan. I recently introduced legislation HB 5218 which would force school boards to hire substitute teachers to make sure the school year begins and continues on the regular schedule during teacher strikes. My bill prohibits school boards from reducing school hours or the school year because that hurts education quality and risks loss of college academic accreditation.

Most Macomb County teachers took a 30 percent pay increase during 1990-1992 when many other people were forced to take pay cuts or pay freezes. Additionally, teacher pensions are exempt from state income taxes. Teachers don't contribute part of their paycheck into their health care nor primary pension program. Taxpayers annually pay approximately $5,800 a year to each teacher's health care and $5,600 to each teacher's pension.

Since teacher unions have the same rights and privileges as other unions, they should have the same penalties. By legalizing teacher strikes, we would virtually end all future teacher strikes.

Mr. Hip

Popular comedian will appear in Wayne

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

He's called "Mr. Hip Urban" within the comedy circuit, and once audiences hear the outrageous jokes of Steve Mitchell, they understand the basis for his nickname.

At 8 p.m. Jan. 29 western Wayne County residents will not only have the opportunity to see this upcoming star at the State Wayne Theater, but they will also meet a future movie celebrity.

Mitchell is starring in a new movie My Love, Your Honor which is expected to hit the national movie theaters this Thanksgiving.

Although the 33-year-old has had a taste for the lime-light, he said his first passion is comedy.

"Comedy is my first love, but right now I'm just trying to get a hand into any kind of performing that I can," Mitchell said.

Raised in the Detroit area until he was 13 years old, Mitchell said everyone in his family enjoyed a good joke, and most of his relatives knew how to tell one, too.

I tell you, it was better than having sex.
- Steve Mitchell

"When I was 13 years old my family moved to St. Louis, Mo.," Mitchell said. "I later came back to the Detroit area to be with friends and family."

Mitchell said he didn't get the courage up to become a stand-up comedian until he was 29 years old.

"Everyone was telling me I was funny, but I just couldn't get up on stage before an audience," Mitchell said. "I really loved comedy. In fact, I would go to as many of the comedy clubs around the area as I could."

It wasn't until Aug. 8, 1989 when Mitchell was in the audience of Joey's Comedy Club in Livonia that he got enough courage to take a chance on his humor.

"It was open mike night, and I had made up in my mind that I was going to perform," Mitchell said. "I had worked on a five-minute routine for this night. It involved jokes surrounding the upcoming Detroit mayoral election."

Mitchell said he was nervous until he had the entire audience laughing with him through his whole routine.

"I tell you, it was better than having sex," Mitchell said. "It was like floating in the air watching everyone laugh with me."

After that night, Mitchell decided to become a professional comedian. He has been working the national comedy network which included being the opening act for Gladys Knight and the Temptations.

"On Feb. 20, I will be on Showtime cable television at the Apollo," Mitchell said. "This Wednesday (Jan. 26) at 8:30 p.m. I will be on BET (Black Entertainment Television) Comic View."

The entertainer said with his comedy routine he emphasizes on observational humor.

"I talk about all the things that most of us can relate to like being drunk for the first time," Mitchell said. "I try to dictate my show as to who is in the audience. Once I get them laughing, I like to take it right to the edge."

With his upcoming movie debut, Mitchell portrays a courtroom news reporter. He said the experience was very inspiring for him to continue pursuing acting.

"What I would really like one day is to have my own show like the Ed Sullivan Show where I would introduce new talent since there is so much out there," Mitchell said. "We really don't have a television show like that any more."

Who is this performer's all-time favorite comedian?

"Billy Crystal," Mitchell said. "I enjoy all of his jokes. His comedy appeals to everyone."

Tickets for the State Wayne Theater performance are $5 for adults and $3.50 for students/seniors. Tickets are available at the State Wayne Theater and the Wayne Community Center. Call 721-7400 for more show information.

Voters will decide on sales tax hike March 15

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Voters will decide on March 15 whether they want a 2 percent hike in sales taxes to help fund state schools, or whether they will accept an income tax hike as an alternative.

The proposed constitutional amendment, which will appear on the March 15 ballot, would:

- Limit annual assessment increase for each property parcel to 5 percent or the inflation rate, whichever is less, and adjust assessment to current value when the property is sold or transferred.
- Increase the 4 percent sales and use tax to 6 percent, and dedicate the additional revenue to schools.
- Exempt school operating millages from uniform taxation requirement.
- Require three-quarters of the legislature to exceed statutory school operating millage rates.
- Activate legislation that would raise additional school revenues through taxation, including partial restoration of property tax.

- Nullify alternative legislation which would raise school revenues through taxation including a 4.6 percent income tax to 6 percent and partial restoration of property tax.

If the proposal is approved by Michigan voters, the state sales tax will increase to 6 cents per dollar, and the alternate plan to boost the income tax to 6 percent will be canceled.

Many area voters have expressed confusion about which plan will be most beneficial for state residents.

Belleville Chamber of Commerce President Gerald McKelvey, of McKelvey & Associates, sees negative implications to the adoption of either tax plan, and believes individuals must decide for themselves which plan will be most beneficial to them.

McKelvey said the increase in the state sales tax would

Accountants, lawyers and other analysts are still trying to interpret the finer points of the tax options, but the bottom line is already clear - Whether voters choose a 50 percent hike in the state sales tax or a 30 percent raise in the state income tax, the result is going to be a loss for taxpayers and another gain for government with no reason to expect improved educational quality.
- Sen. Jack Welborn

reform could have been done any other way. The legislators had to take a drastic step, without the safety net, to change the school funding."

In a Jan. 13 letter, Sen. Jack Welborn of Lansing expressed his uncertainty about the March 15 ballot proposal.

"As a taxpayer, I'm going to lose either way. I think both tax options are bad, and that's the reason I voted against them," Welborn said.

"Accountants, lawyers and other analysts are still trying to interpret the finer points of the tax options, but the bottom line is already clear - Whether voter choose a 50 percent hike in the state sales tax or a 30 percent raise in the state income tax, the result is going to be a loss for taxpayers and another gain for government with no reason to expect improved educational quality," Welborn said.

The senator noted that a vote for escalating the sales tax is also a vote for expanding legalized gambling through the use of numbers video games in bars.

"Either way, businesses are going to have an increase of 24 mills in property taxes. If the sales tax fails, there will also be an increase in the Single Business Tax. If the sales tax passes, the transfer tax in real estate sales will be increase to 2 percent," Welborn noted. "If the sales tax fails, the real estate transfer tax is increased 1 percent."

In addition, if the sales tax passes, residential property owners get a 6-mill tax reinstatement, 12 mills if the sales tax fails. Either way, the 3-mill intermediate school district tax is being reinstated on all property owners, the senator noted.

"What is really confusing is the way K-12 funding increased over a billion dollars in the final compromise," he said, noting that an amendment to hold spending to $9.6 billion was boosted to $10.6 billion and then increased to a total of $11.2 billion.

The cold you feel right now is how thousands of families feel 24 hours a day.

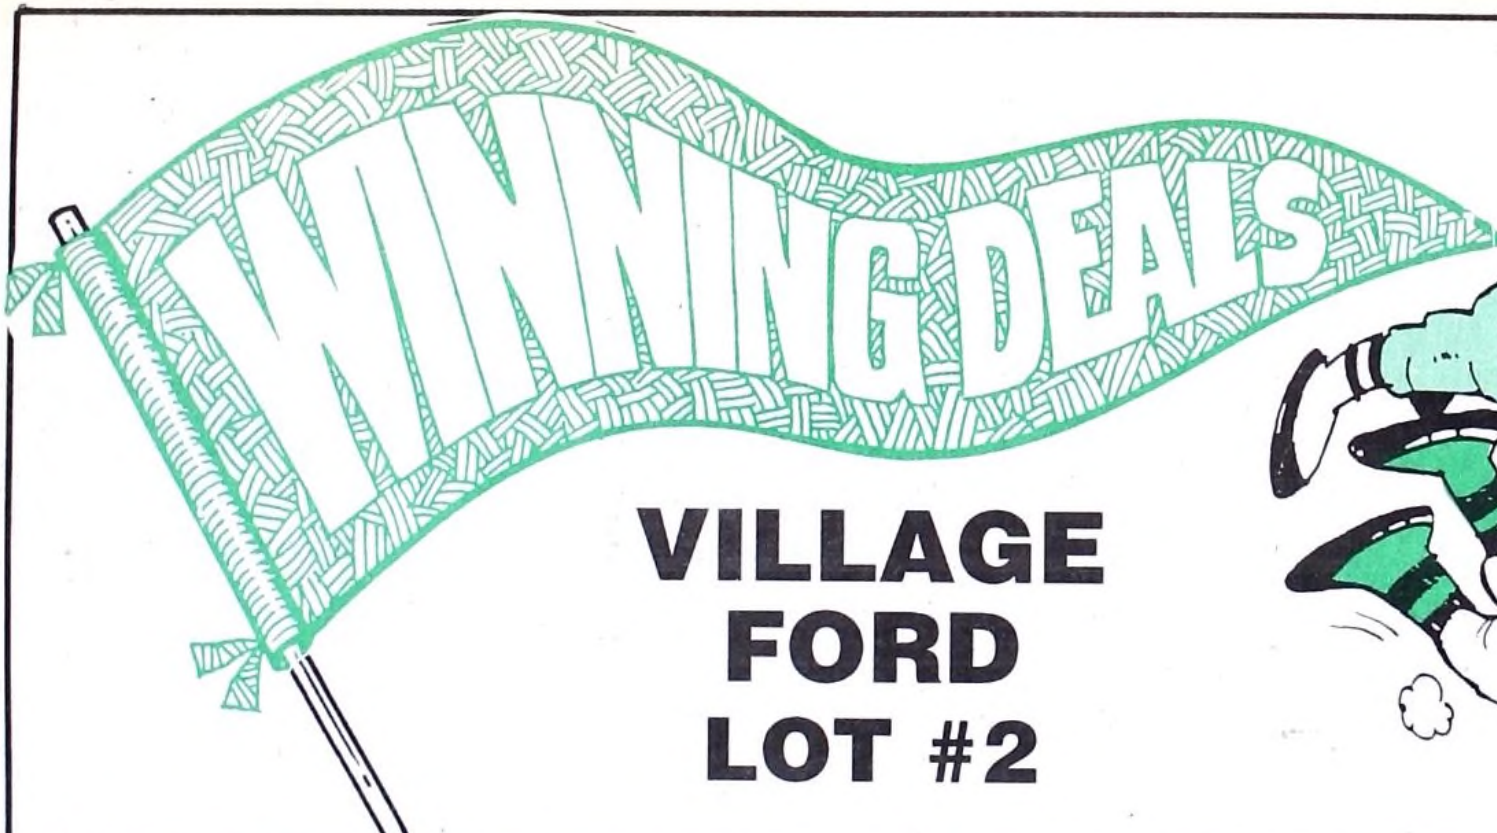

This year, thousands of men, women and children will be cold due to a financial hardship. For them, the thought of snow only brings doubt and fear. Whether they are physically or mentally disabled, unexpectedly unemployed or the working poor, these people will endure the chill of winter without the protection of a warm home. That is until The Heat And Warmth (THAW) Fund.

THAW is a non-profit organization which helps struggling families in 11 Southeastern Michigan counties keep their heat on. It is the last resort for families who have exhausted all other possible resources. Since 1986, THAW has assisted over 11,000 families, more than half with children. Yet, THAW is not considered a handout, but a helping hand, for less than 10% of the recipients are repeat cases.

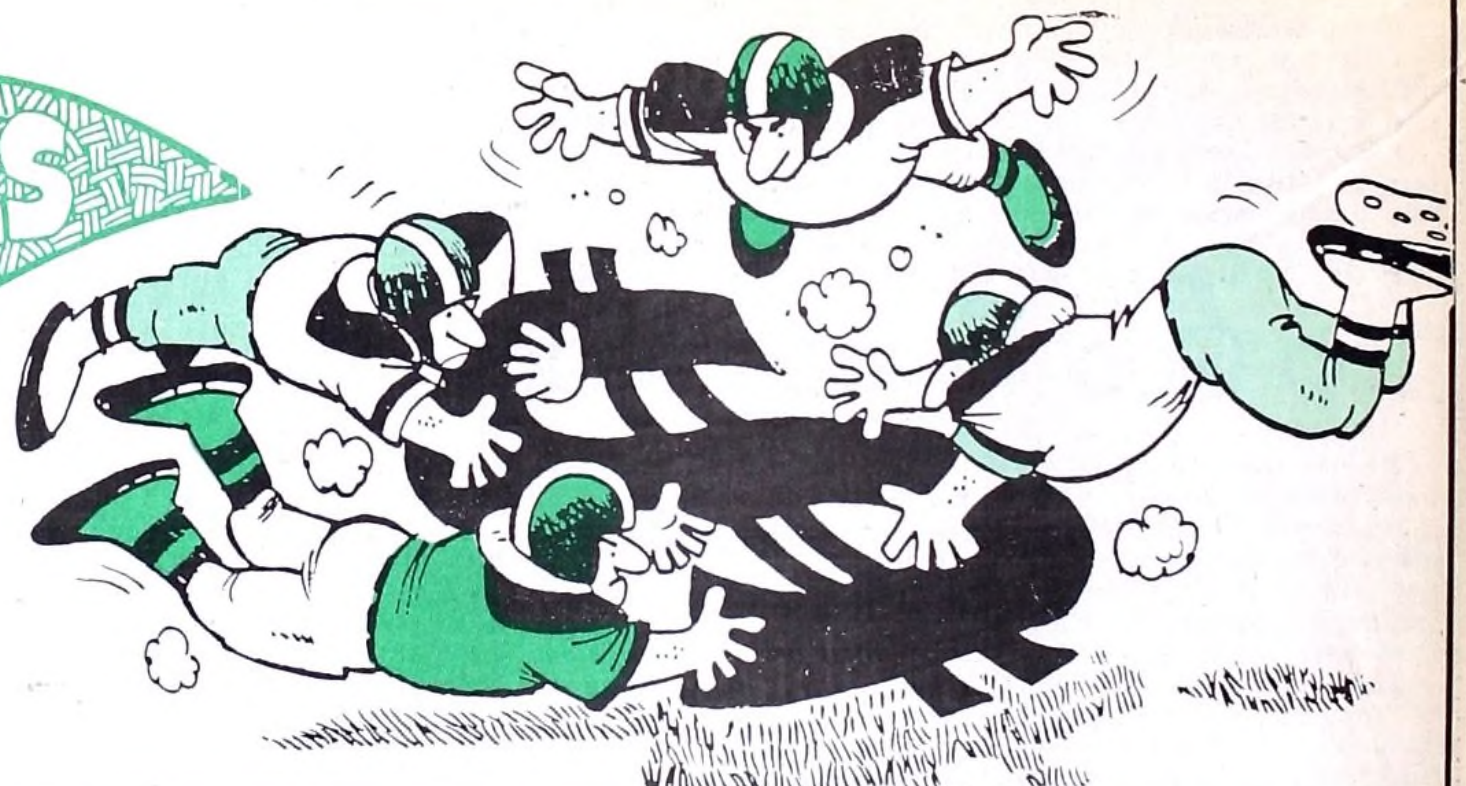

Once again, Detroit Edison is supporting THAW's efforts. Every dollar you donate will be matched by Detroit Edison and will go directly to those in need. So, as the nights grow longer, please remember the families who grow colder.

Rockets are 'hot'

Glenn is free of Wayne yoke, buries Walled Lake Western

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A record-freezing temperature couldn't stop a hot Westland John Glenn High School basketball team which crushed Walled Lake Central 81-57 Friday night after jolting natural rival, Wayne Memorial, 54-53, last Tuesday.

It was the first time in the past decade that Glenn has defeated a Wayne basketball team.

Although the record cold cancelled most high school events, the Wayne-Glenn game went on as scheduled and played before a standing-room-only crowd.

"It may have been cold outside," noted Glenn coach Mike Schuette, "but it wasn't cold inside the Alumni Arena."

It was also one of the closest and more exciting games between the two Wayne-Westland teams.

In a duel of defenses, Glenn eked out a 12-10 first period lead and hung on 25-21 at half-time. Although the visiting Rockets increase their lead 41-36 for three periods, Wayne came back and erased the deficit and held a slim one point lead with seconds remaining when Albert Jones grabbed a long rebound and dribbled the length of the floor, and drove ded a decade of Wayne domination over their cross-district rival.

Glenn player Guy Rucker scored a team high 21 points while teammate Tony Goins contributed 19 points. Wayne freshman Lorenzo Guess led the field with 23 points. Center Jason Overton added 10.

On Friday, Glenn looked awesome against a Central team that came into the battle with only two losses. With Goins setting the pace with 25 points, 11 rebounds and eight assists, the outcome of the game after the initial half was never in doubt.

Rucker came up with 22 points and nine rebounds and rounding out the balanced scoring were Brent Washington and Tariq Horne, who each collected 10.

The Rocket express ran into Canton last night, a team that could cause them problems. On Thursday, they play at Livonia Stevenson, a team that likes to play for the threes.

Schuette's club takes a 6-1 overall and a 3-0 Western Lakes Conference record into the week.

Although Wayne Memorial guard Jameel Wooden (33) has this easy layup against Belleville Friday night (photo, at right), baskets did not come easy for the Zebras most of the evening. Wayne lost its first Mega Conference game, falling to coach Michael Garland's Tigers, 57-53. The loss dropped Wayne into second place and lifted Belleville (5-0) into sole possession of first. Tigers are on top of Mega Conference hill

ANP Staff Writer

With a hard-earned victory over arch-rival Wayne Memorial, Belleville has climbed to the top of the Mega Conference hill.

Coach Michael Garland and his cagers earned the lofty spot with a come-from-behind 57-53 victory over the former co-Red Division leader.

"They played an excellent game against us," said Wayne coach Chuck Henry, whose club moved down a notch into second place. "We had our chances, but we didn't make good mental decisions, especially in those closing minutes."

Wayne led 12-8 after the first period on the strength of Rod Hardison and Lorenzo Guess' efforts. But the hosts had problems stopping deceptive Mike Foley and center Scott Chatfield, who rallied the Tigers to within one-point of tying the score at intermission.

Trailing 26-25 at the half, the undefeated league leader outscored Wayne 16-14 in the third period and carried a precarious 41-40 advantage into the final eight minutes.

In a seesaw, cat-and-mouse finale, Wayne worked its way back into the lead by a point and with less than two minutes remaining. Then, an off-balanced Michael Foley got off a three-point shot which was interrupted by a personal foul.

Foley proceeded to can all three free throws that returned the lead to the Tigers for good.

Foley and Wayne's Rod Hardison, who each scored 15 points, shared individual scoring honors for the evening. Chatfield tossed in 13 points for the winners.

Wayne's Lorenzo Guess also scored in double figures. He had 14.

Bay City Western wins Romulus mat invitational

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Bay City Western High School, ranked no. 2 in the state, captured the Fifth Annual Romulus Royal Wrestling Invitational staged on Saturday at Romulus Senior High School.

Western garnered 210 points to finish atop of a field that included 15 other teams, including Belleville, Plymouth-Salem and Romulus.

"We had a lot of potential state champs and state qualifiers at this meet," said Romulus coach Norm Butler. "We feel this tournament is among the top three in the state of Michigan."

Belleville finished fourth (113.5) behind Bay City Western (210), Portage Central (171.5), and East Detroit (121).

The final standings also included: Pontiac Northern (108), Flint Northern (95), Romulus (81), Grosse Pointe North (77), Plymouth-Salem (68), Lansing Sexton (62), Lansing Eastern (60), Battle Creek Central (56.5), Birmingham Brother Rice (55), Walled Lake Western (54), Troy Athens (50) and Farmington (37.5).

Romulus had the second-best 135-pounder in the invitational in Kevin Ladach, who lost the gold to Ryan Hill of Portage Central on an injury default. It was Ladach's first setback in 19 trips on to the mats this year.

The Eagles also had three bronze medalists with Tim Kilgore (112), Thomas Taylor (130) and Scott Drysdale (152).

Belleville had the winner in the 171-pound category. Multitalented Jeremy Amrhein pinned Plymouth-Salem wrestler John Svec in 1:38 to earn the gold. The Tigers finished second with 160-pounder Ron Komaromi while heavy-weight Jeremy Williams also placed third.

Along with Svec's silver medal, Salem coach Ron Krueger's Rocks were third at 152 with Steve Hughes.

Romulus only put eight of its wrestlers on the mats because the freshmen and sophomores traveled to the Bedford Junior Invitational. The Eagles returned from their long trip with a first-place trophy.

Storm wipes out showdown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The anticipated showdown between undefeated Inkster High School and nationally-ranked Saginaw Buena Vista was canceled last week because of inclement weather.

The two outstanding high school basketball teams may not be able to reschedule the game because of scheduling conflicts, according to school officials.

"Our kids looked forward to playing them," said Inkster coach Monte Dennard. "It's not often that you get to play a nationally-ranked team. Unfortunately the cold weather forced the cancellation of our game."

"Because we have commitments to the league and other opponents, I don't think we're going to be able to reschedule this game."

In the meantime, the Vikings remained undefeated as they survived an upset bid Friday night on the home court against arch-conference rival, Highland Park, 65-64.

It was the ninth consecutive Inkster win against no losses

Highland Park played the Vikings tough right down to the final whistle. With the help of a balanced scoring attack - the Vikings had four players in double figures - Inkster took a 17-14 lead after the first eight minutes, however, the Parkers came right back and outscored their hosts, 21-16, in the second quarter to grab a 35-33 advantage at halftime.

Maurice Ballard sparked a second half Viking rally, tossing in eight of his 14 points in the final two periods to lead his team to a 49-47 edge for three periods.

Highland Park refused to yield and the lead exchanged hands five times early in the fourth period before the unbeaten Suburban Athletic Conference (SAC) leader rode a 6-1 run to victory.

Along with Ballard's 14 points, the Vikings also got 12 from James Outlaw, and 10 each from Imbrhaim Myles and Greg Prewitt. Al White finished with 14 rebounds, eight blocked shots, six assists to go with his eight points.

Highland Park player Marques Summers led all scorers with 19 points.

Inkster begins the second round of SAC competition this week atop of the conference standings. The Vikings clashed with Ecorse Tuesday night and will travel to Oak Park on Friday for a rematch with the Redskins.

A loss earlier in the season to natural rival Inkster High School apparently was just what Robichaud players needed to jump start their cage engine.

After losing to the Vikings, coach Ron Tarrant and the Bulldogs have come back and won five in a row, including a stunning 78-69 come-from-behind victory Friday night over

Romulus seeks winning combo

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

First-year Romulus High School basketball coach Guy DelGuidice continues to jockey his players in-and-out of games in hopes of finding a winning combination.

"We have only one player who had any kind of experience off of last year team in our lineup this year," said DelGuidice, whose Eagles couldn't stop 6-foot, 7-inch Jason Kline and Grosse Ile Friday night.

Kline scored a game-high 34 points to lead the Islanders to a lopsided 73-53 victory over Romulus. The Eagles are looking for their first victory in 1994 and have been struggling since picking up a win in their holiday tournament.

"In order for this team to win, we have to have anyone contributing," DelGuidice stressed. "We don't have any kind of size or outstanding talent, therefore, we need all-around team effort to win."

Romulus will not find it any easier Friday night when they host Highland Park. Although the 1994 Parkers are not the traditional powerhouse of the past, they can be tough. In fact, Friday night they made undefeated Inkster sweat before losing a close 65-64 decision to the Vikings.

Against the Islanders, Romulus stayed in the game the first half. The Eagles trailed 22-15 after one, thanks to the efforts of 6-1 senior Rodney Smith, who scored 20 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

But Grosse Ile built upon a 41-32 halftime lead by outscoring their rivals 32-21 in the second half to clinch the victory.

Wyandotte favored to win Wayne invitational

Wyandotte, the defending champ, is favored to capture the 1994 Wayne Memorial Invitational Swimming and Diving Championships. The invitational, which has drawn eight area and local teams to compete for the title, will be staged Friday and Saturday at the Wayne pool. The preliminaries will be staged at 4 p.m. on Friday, while the prelims for diving will be conducted at 9 a.m. Saturday.

The finals for all 11 events will be staged beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday.

"This year the competition will be closer than in previous years," said Wayne Memorial coach Randy Ferguson. "But Wyandotte, I feel, will have the edge on the rest of the field. They have a solid core of kids returning from last year's team."

However, if the defending champ should have any problems, the Wayne coach believes the nod should be given to Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

Ferguson added that because Wayne lacks depth, he feels his team will be competing for the No. 3 spot.

Because the Wayne-Westland school district has imposed a pay-to-participate fee on athletes to help fund programs during the 1993-94 school year, only 10 swimmers are competing on the varsity swim squad this year.

Despite the lack of depth, Wayne has managed to win five of eight meets this year. The Zebras' latest victim was Southgate Anderson. Wayne captured seven of 11 events, including a double from Jim Henley, to surface with a 90-77 victory over the downriver team.

Henley won the 200 and 500 freestyle events. Wayne also picked up a victory in the 50-yard freestyle thanks to Clint Nemeth's 26.1 effort, while Matt Ferguson, the coach's brother, swam a 2:18.8 to win the 200-yard individual medley. James Darden's 59.0 was the best time for the 100-yard freestyle.

Jason Garlough, Randy Jackson, Darden and Ferguson combined for a 1:48.2 to win the 200-yard freestyle relay for Wayne.

The Zebras also won the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay with Chris Hall, Henley, Nemeth and Ferguson who were clocked in 4:08.4.

Before hosting the invitational, Wayne has a 7 p.m. Thursday meeting at Edsel Ford. It is a Mega Conference Red Division dual meet.

Salem rocks Stevenson, Canton hangs on to win 79-60

With Sanj Seth pumping in a career high 24 points, Plymouth-Salem High School buried Livonia Stevenson 79-60 to edge closer to a showdown with Westland John Glenn for the Western Lakes Conference title rights.

And while coach Bob Brodie watched his Rocks pick up their eighth win in nine starts, his counterpart at Plymouth-Canton, Dave VanWagoner, saw his team almost blow a 19-point lead in a scramble to the end with Farmington Harrison.

VanWagoner and his Chiefs managed to hang on to win, 61-60.

Harrison almost pulled it out with a 30-point final period.

"We'll take the 'W,'" said his team would have to play its best to beat Glenn.

"They (Glenn) are the premiere team in our league this year," VanWagoner offered before the game.

a pre-season title favorite, Oak Park.

"We definitely have the momentum with us now," stressed Tarrant, who faces nemesis Willow Run next. (Tarrant is a former Willow Run coach who led the Flyers to a Class B state championship).

"But we have problems getting started in the first half. If we could get some consistency out there, it would be a lot easier on all of us."

Oak Park jumped to a 22-14 lead and held on as the Bulldogs cut the margin to one (39-38) with the help of Tyris Alexander's 13 (of his 22) points in the second period.

The Redskins came back and took command 58-53 after three, but Antwan Harris fired in eight of his 14 points, while Alexander and Dewey Mitchell chipped in five each in the stretch as the Bulldogs outscored their Suburban Athletic Conference (SAC) opponents 25-11 in the final eight minutes of the contest.

The victory was the fourth for Robichaud in six conference starts.

Mitchell finished with a game-high 20 points and Harris had 14, while Alexander and Larry Abdullah each accounted for 11 points.

Robichaud players will have to improve at the foul line if they hope to get by a highly-touted Willow Run. The Bulldogs made nine of 21 against the Redskins. Oak Park canned three of eight.

"Our two (conference) losses were to Inkster and Willow Run," Tarrant noted. "If we want to stay in this race, we can't afford to lose to either team in the second round."

The Bulldogs will have the home court advantage Friday.

Tigers

Belleville had the edge at the free throw line where the Tigers capitalized on 21 of 32 charities. Wayne came away with 15 of 26 free throws.

Last week definitely was the week of coach Henry's discontent. His team lost two big ones by less than two treys.

Garland later said that it was a big victory for his team, but that being on top will mean that everyone would be gunning for them now.

Wayne returned to the court last night in Monroe in hopes of getting back on the winning track. The Zebras will be at home Friday night to play Garden City. Both are conference games.

Canton police seek input of residents

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

If a police officer were to step out of a patrol car and walk up to you, what would be the first thing to run through your mind? Would you be re-tracing your actions searching for some illegal activity?

Canton Township Police officers are working to change that first impression. Striving toward improved relations with township residents, select officers are returning to the community and asking for input.

The mission statement of the community-based policing program states the Canton Township Police Department will work in a partnership with citizens to solve community problems related to crime, fear of crime, social and physical disorder and other problems which impact the overall quality of life in the community.

To create a mutual trust, respect and understanding between the police and community, a handful of officers voluntarily go out into the community and introduce themselves to citizens.

"If an officer is driving through a subdivision and sees a citizen walking to their mailbox, the officer will get out of the car and talk with the citizen," said John Santomauro, director of public safety for Canton Township.

Officers are also accessible to people by attending homeowners meetings and visiting local schools.

The concept of community-based policing stems from programs utilized in other areas, then tailored to the needs of the township. But according to police officials, "The concept of returning to the community is not new and has been tried and retried in many different forms and applications. Each has met success or failure depending on the time, area or method of delivery."

The program involves a select number of areas in the township equal to the number of police volunteers. "Even though this peer group is starting to sell itself, I don't know if we could ever cover the entire township," said the director, "because I would not want to force people to do it."

Santomauro attributes the success of the program to the officers involved.

"What tends to work is when it's the officer's own idea versus a management idea. The volunteers are talking about it to other officers and more people are volunteering."

Snyder was released on a $500 conditional bond, which stipulated that he have no contact with the complainant.

A 20-year-old Westland man accused of stalking a local woman at her place of employment entered a guilty plea to the reduced charge of disorderly conduct in Westland 18th District Court on Thursday.

Thomas Earle Snyder, who was originally scheduled for jury trial on the stalking offense, faces sentencing on Feb. 22 in 18th District Court. Snyder faces up to a maximum of 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine.

Snyder was arrested by police following an alleged drive-by stalking incident lasting approximately three hours, Moore said.

The stalking law was enacted Jan. 1, 1993.

Happy day

Two 100-year-old residents were recently honored with a birthday celebration at American House retirement home, located at 1660 Venoy in Westland. Resident Christina Marfleet, who has lived at American House for 2-1/2 years, enjoys her centennial celebration. Florence Trebble, a one-year resident of American House, was also honored at the festivities.

Youth program funds approved

The Youth Assistance Program will continue for at least the first six months of 1994 under a budget amendment approved by the Westland City Council members.

With $7,302 from community development funds, council members approved a budget amendment which would fund the program through June 30, 1994. After June 30, the block grant for the new year will provide some $16,000 in funding, according to Westland Budget Director Tim McCurley.

"It's anticipated that the remaining funds will carry us through the next budget year," Finance Director Mike Gorman said.

Gorman advised the council that if the contract is not extended a full year, some employees may be reluctant to stay on full-time.

"It might impair the personnel, but if they know the council is considering it, there might not be as much concern," Councilman Charles Griffin responded.

"The only additional position was clerical part-time. I don't think ... that would impact them in a negative way," Councilman Glenn Anderson added.

Council members also extended a Youth Assistance Professional Services Agreement between the city and program director Ronaale Bowman until June 30, 1994 in the pro-rated amount of $32,107.

"I think the response to the community has been tremendous," Council President Pro-Tem Sandra Cicirelli said.

Cicirelli added that additional fundraising efforts are being considered by the Youth Advisory Council.

The Youth Assistance Program, based in the Dorsey Community Center located at 32715 Dorsey Road in Westland, was started by the city in December 1992.

The program was developed to help children between the ages of 7 and 16 who are having problems in school and at home, Bowman said.

The youth program is currently budgeted for $59,800 and Bowman requested $92,214 in funding for 1994 with a total of $39,409 granted for February through June 1994.

"We need to offer more than we originally intended. We have a lot of young kids," Bowman said following the recent award of a $3,000 grant from the Target Store on Warren Road in Westland.

There are 154 students in the "first-time offender" program and there is a waiting list for students who wish to be involved, Bowman said.

Council members originally extended the program through Jan. 31, 1994.

"Although we agree the need and demand are there, our position is to go through this when we know what will happen in the state," Mayor Robert J. Thomas said at an earlier study session.

"This is a very worthwhile project, but we have to understand whether the budget money will be there in June."

ICE EXTRAVAGANZA

SKATING CELEBRITY SLIDES INTO PRODUCER ROLE FOR NEW ICE SHOW

He flies through the air with the greatest of ease, and his act doesn't even include a trapeze.

The phenomenal Scott Hamilton is sliding into town at 8 p.m. Jan. 28 as the Discover Card Stars on Ice program opens with a talented cast of Olympians including Kristi Yamaguchi, Paul Wylie, Rosalynn Sumners, Brian Orser and Kitty and Peter Carruthers. The event takes place at the Palace of Auburn Hills.

This season is particularly special for the skating celebrities as it marks the 10th anniversary of their Olympic experience in Sarajevo. A special ensemble number, set to Elton John's Funeral For A Friend has been created to celebrate their successes in 1984 and to reflect upon the memory of the people of Sarajevo who shared the momentous event with them.

Hamilton has been the most celebrated figure skater in the world since 1981, when he won the first of eight consecutive national and world titles. The pint-sized powerhouse who is 5-feet, 3-1/2 inches tall is known for his extraordinary speed, footwork and stunts which include a back flip and a battery of triple jumps that have thrilled spectators and judges throughout the world.

He said he learned how to do the back flip on ice in only two days.

"It took two days to master the flip, but to add the various movements leading up to it and after it took a few weeks," Hamilton said. "Once I got the hang of it, the flip just came naturally."

Hamilton is the co-producer for this show. He said he is enjoying traveling to the various theaters throughout the U.S.

"We started this show Dec. 26," Hamilton said. "We've already been to Seattle, Sacramento, San Jose, San Diego and many more areas in the West Coast. It's a busy schedule, but it's a lot of fun."

When asked if the "Stars On Ice" production will ever go abroad, Hamilton said he would like to perform in Europe, but there are a few restrictions.

"Unfortunately many of theaters in Europe are in the dark ages and are not suited for our kind of show," Hamilton said. "The other thing is Europe has so many popular musicals on right now that it would be hard to schedule in something new."

Hamilton's climb up the ladder of success is definitely an inspirational story of courage and determination.

Six weeks after he was born Aug. 28, 1958, he was adopted by Ernest and Dorothy Hamilton, both professors at Bowling Green University.

When he was only 2 years old, he contracted a mysterious illness which caused him to stop growing. For the next six years, doctors prescribed a variety of unsuccessful treatments. After his illness was mistakenly diagnosed as cystic fibrosis and he was given six months to live, the Hamiltons took their son to Boston's Children's Hospital where his ailment began to correct itself by special diet and moderate exercise.

After watching his older sister, Susan, on an ice skating outing, Hamilton decided he wanted to skate.

He began taking formal lessons and joined a hockey team. Within a year, his illness disappeared and he began growing again.

At 13, Hamilton began training with Pierre Brunet, a former Olympic gold medalist and despite steady progress, abruptly quit competitive skating in 1976 to enroll at Bowling Green.

Finances to fund his training had become an issue. But, before he began classes, an anonymous couple who had supported other Olympic hopefuls volunteered to sponsor Scott. He immediately resumed training.

Within the next several years, Hamilton's training paid off. By 1980, he was good enough to capture third place in national competition and win a berth on the U.S. Olympic squad.

His other accomplishments include: earning a fifth-place finish at the 1980 Olympics in Lake Placid; capturing the World Championship in 1981; winning a gold medal at the first Skate America tournament; earning world titles in 1982 and 1983; capturing a gold medal at the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo and scoring a stunning victory at the World Championships in Ottawa, Canada.

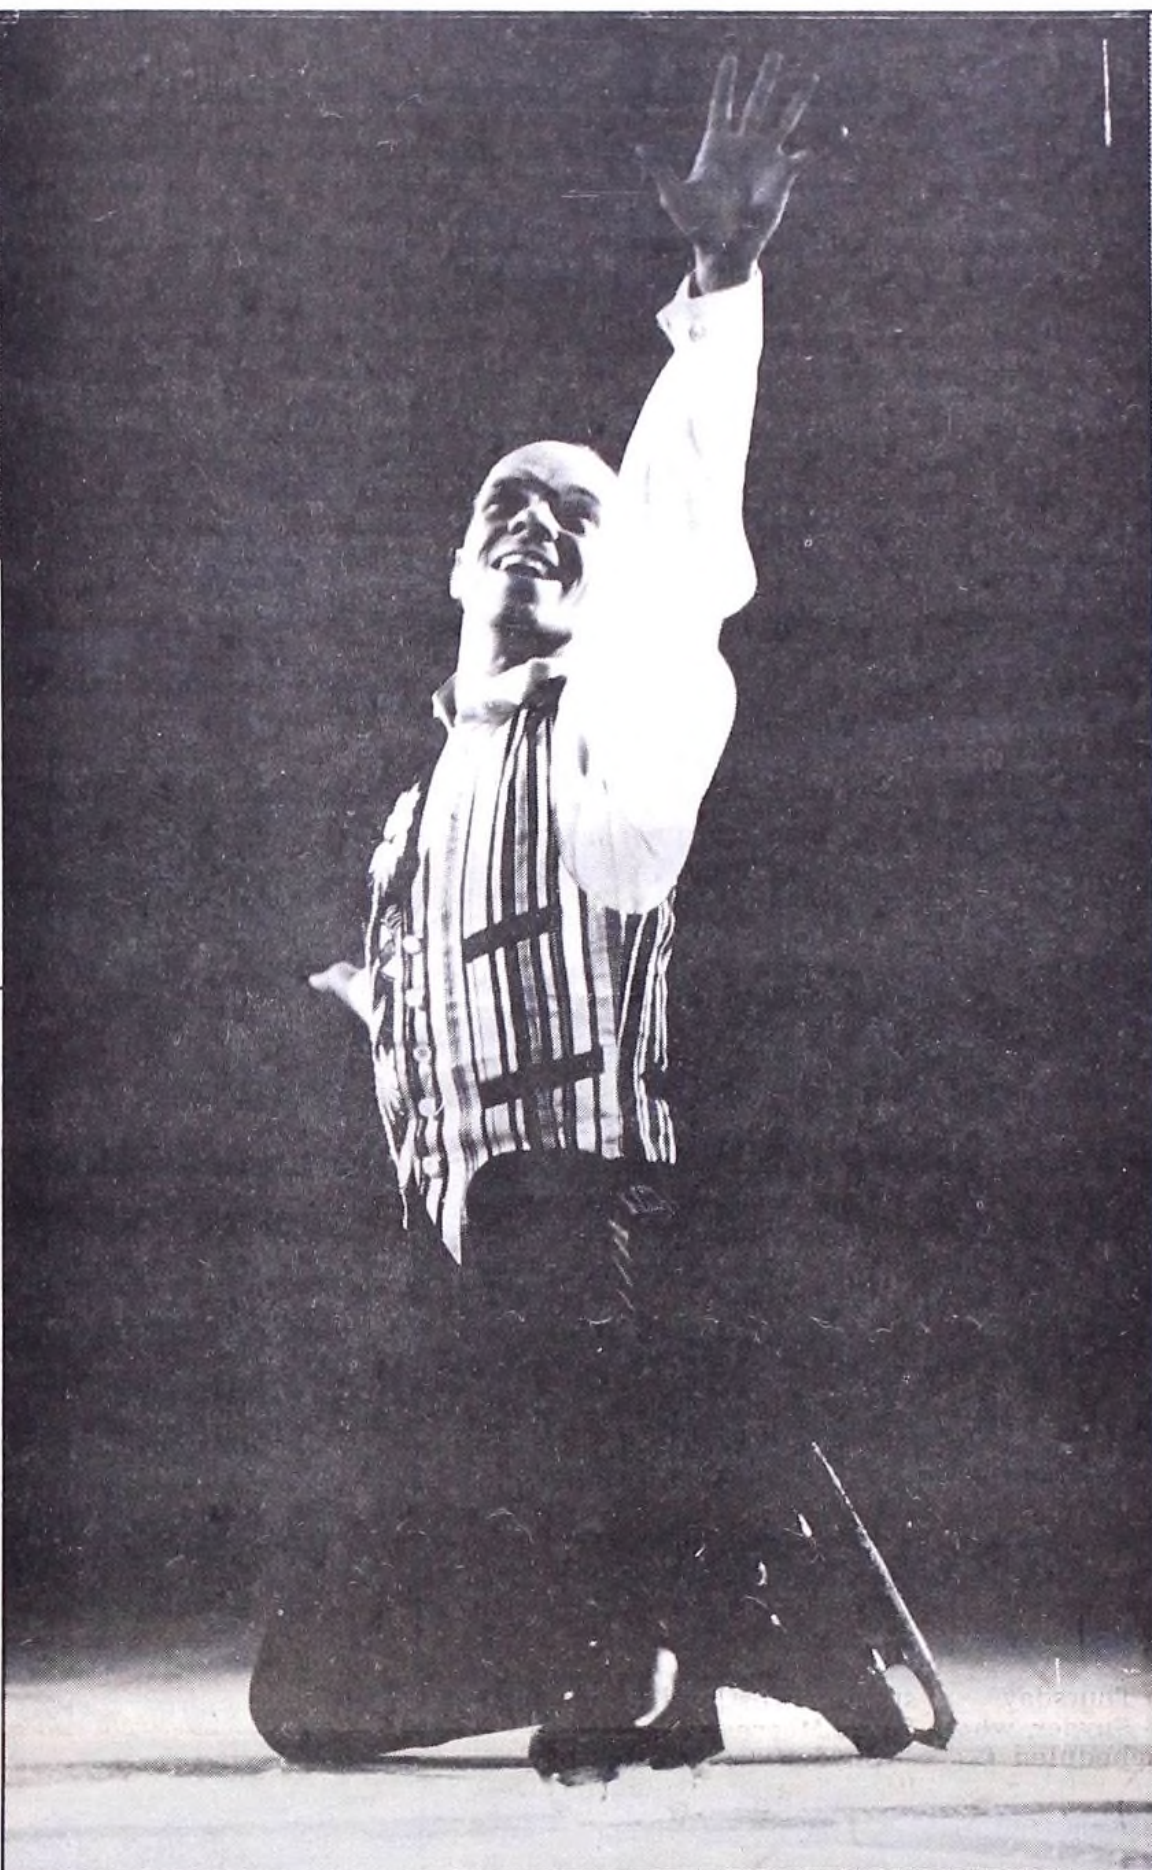

Hamilton said he enjoys a good competition. With the recent Nancy Kerrigan/Tonya Harding saga, however, he said he is disheartened that this type of incident has entered the skating world.

"Nothing like this has ever happened since I've been competing," Hamilton said. "Put it this way, if it had happened when I was going for the medals, I would probably be in a wheelchair."

"It has always been very competitive to begin with. There are various individuals who are cutthroat in this business. It will be interesting to see how this particularly case with Nancy and Tonya ends up."

Hamilton said he hopes nothing like the Kerrigan/Harding incident will happen again.

"I don't see this continuing," Hamilton said. "At least in this case, they are getting the individuals who committed the crime which is unlike what happened with the tennis star who was stabbed."

As a producer, Hamilton has twice produced major theatrical proscenium ice shows for Sea World in San Diego. He made his musical comedy/acting debut in 1989 as the star of Broadway On Ice.

In July of 1990, he received the honor of being inducted into the U.S. Olympic Hall of Fame.

Hamilton seems to have done it all. What does he have in store for the future? "I would love to do something in New York on stage," Hamilton said. "I really enjoy acting. Maybe I would try my hand at the movies. I think I've got that Tom Cruise smile."

For those skaters hoping to reach for the stars like Hamilton, he has these words of advice.

"Make a lot of short-term goals," Hamilton said. "Don't look way ahead. I try to tell kids to not worry about later on, worry about now."

The Discover Card Stars on Ice is also supporting the Make-A-Wish Foundation of America. Tickets are $35 and $22.50. To charge by phone call (313)645-6666.

The cat's meow

Goody's provides all pets' needs

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

A new pet supply store recently opened in Wayne housing all the necessities for that special member of the family.

The grand opening for Goody's Pet Supply store, 35340 east Michigan Ave. in the Blockbuster Plaza, is now taking place with a wide variety of door prizes for customers of all ages, according to owner Cynthia Goodlow.

Goodlow was the previous owner of the Westland Dog Food Co. in Wayne. She said this building provides not only more store space, but also a better location for area residents.

"A lot of people have asked me why we changed our name and moved here," Goodlow said. "We wanted to be able to expand our merchandise in order to provide our customers with even better products. We also wanted to be part of a new building which is more visible off of Michigan Avenue for customers."

Goodlow, who is now the sole owner of Goody's, already plans to expand the establishment this spring.

"I plan on adding about half of this store size more in order to bring in as many supplies as I can for the wide variety of pets my customers have in this area," Goodlow said.

What's unique at Goody's? A large selection of fish will tempt any collector as well as many exotic birds.

Goodlow is also carrying

"We carry certain lines of pet food that are all natural with no preservatives."

more bird cages and a handful of dog crates.

"We have supplies for any animal lover which includes birds, cats, dogs, rabbits and fish," Goodlow said. "In this area, my customers have a variety of pets so I try to make sure we can assist them with any of their needs. If they don't find a certain food or pet care element here, we can try to order it for them."

For those health conscious pet owners, Goodlow said she has various food items available.

"We carry certain lines of pet food that are all natural with no preservatives," Goodlow said. "We still have the Westland Ultimate Dog food which is our number one selling item."

Right now Goody's is offering $3 off any 40-or-50-pound bag of dog food which includes: Iams, Science Diet, Natures Recipe, Purina, Pro Plan, Nutro, Ultimate and all Westland brands.

There is also a $1.50 off special on any 20-or-25-pound bag of dog or cat food including: Iams, Science Diet, Natures Recipe, Purina, Pro Plan, Nutro, Ultimate, and all Westland brands.

"As part of our grand opening, we are offering numerous specials throughout the store," Goodlow said. "Our prizes include a year's supply of Iams cat or dog food, S.A.M. Clubhouse kit, 600 pounds of Scamp kitty litter, 10-gallon aquarium starter kit, one year of free car washes donated by Johnson's Car Wash, free movie tickets, donated by the City of Wayne and gift certificates."

Store hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. For pet care information call 728-5300.

Newspaper marks 108th anniversary

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

In 1886, the American Federation of Labor was founded. Ty Cobb was born, the Statue of Liberty was dedicated and Robert Lewis Stevenson penned Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Also among the important events that happened 108 years ago, was the founding of the Belleville Enterprise by Roscoe C. Begole in partnership with A.E. Smith.

The Enterprise, one of the six community newspapers published by Associated Newspapers Inc., has served the western Wayne County communities of Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township and the area served by the Van Buren Public School District with weekly editions since its founding.

In 1888, Smith bought out Begole's interest in the newspaper and continued publishing The Enterprise, adding the Willis Times and Romulus Roman, which was later merged with The Enterprise. In 1925, the newspaper was sold to Frank Ames of Wayne, and two years later Ames joined in partnership with Paul C. Robinson to form the Ames-Robinson Publishing Co.

In 1945, The Enterprise-Roman was purchased by Ray Clift, who in 1950 formed Associated Newspapers with Lewis Robson. After Robson resigned from the newspaper chain, Wes Willett, the father of the present owner, bought into the firm.

From 1969 to 1976, the newspaper chain was owned by Panax Corp. It was then sold to David Willett, current owner and president.

The newspaper became a twice-weekly publication on Nov. 4, 1990 when the Sunday Eagle & Enterprise was introduced.

The Enterprise has its office in the old Van Buren Township Hall, at 116 Fourth St., in downtown Belleville.

In observance of the 108th birthday of the newspaper, cookies and coffee will be served to visitors at the Belleville office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 10. At 1 p.m., a reception is planned, and birthday cake will be served to guests.

Lighting plan prompts protest

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Residents of Pattingill Street in Westland, who recently voiced their disapproval of a plan to place eight overhead street lights on the dead-end street north of Cherry Hill Road, were pleased with the decision of city council members to begin assessing the costs per parcel for a single street light.

Despite recommendations from Detroit Edison that the 41-parcel street have a minimum of eight lights, citizens on Pattingill made a request to only have one light placed on the corner of Pattingill and Cherry Hill.

Residents on Pattingill made the original street lighting petition in 1991. However, one resident, who led the petition drive in 1991, said the petitioners only wanted one street light on the corner for better night vision when making a left-hand turn.

"We only wanted one street light. We don't want eight," Pattingill resident Stephen Keller said at an earlier meeting.

Person of the Year is sought

This isn't going to be easy. Once again, this year, Associated Newspapers will name the annual "Person of the Year", an honor awarded to a very special person in our community in recognition of their public service and civic contributions.

Selecting just one individual from the long list of truly civic-minded and altruistic people we know personally won't be a simple task. But, there are many more worthwhile candidates about whom we simply do not know--and we'd like to consider them for this honor.

The prices (over the years) won't go up much if at all.
- Assessor Karen Harden

According to Westland City Assessor Karen Harden, the street light will cost Pattingill residents $23.63 for the first year compared to $164 for eight lights and $7.61 per parcel each year compared to $60 per parcel if all eight 100-watt cobra head lights were installed.

The initial first year charge will pay for a portion of the total construction cost to Detroit Edison, Hardin said. The first-time payment also allows Detroit Edison to keep electrical and maintenance costs from rising much over the years, according to Hardin.

"The prices (over the years) won't go up much if at all," Hardin said.

Westland Finance Director Mike Gorman warned at an earlier meeting of city council members of possible lawsuits if accidents or other problems occur should the city reject the advice from Detroit Edison officials.

"One problem we have is liability if we don't follow the recommendations of Detroit Edison," Gorman said.

Gorman referred to an earlier case, in which the city spent $40,000 in legal fees to resolve a street lighting problem.

"If we don't follow the guidelines, we will be sued," Gorman said.

However, Gorman added that since the light is being placed on a corner and not within a subdivision the city will not face any liability because the subdivision, by citizen request, will remain unlit.

"If the people don't want lights at all -- that's different," Gorman said.

A second public hearing to discuss the costs of the project will be scheduled and the final determination could be made as soon as February.

be on the volunteer or charity work the individual does for the community as a whole.

Please send suggestions for those who might be considered for "Person of the Year" including the efforts and accomplishments which make the individual a candidate for the honor to: Person of the Year c/o Associated Newspapers, Inc., 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184. Include the candidate's name, address and phone number along with the name and phone number of the individual submitting the nomination.

Special thanks

Last month 80 Oakwood Hospital Guild volunteers were honored for their hours of service at a semi-annual tea, hosted by the Oakwood Hospital Volunteer Services Department. Honorees included (from left): Jean Schmidt of Canton Township and Irene Dimond of Birmingham who were both honored for serving 8,000 hours; Rosemary Dantzer of Allen Park served 12,000 hours and Beth Cameron of Westland was honored for serving 13,500 hours. Claudine Tessner, president of the Oakwood Hospital Guild, and Betsy Cushman, director of Volunteer Services at Oakwood thanked the volunteers for their service.

Residents flee home fires

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Westland fire officials kept busy last week with one house fire and an apartment fire.

A Jan. 14 Westland house fire determined to be accidental by Westland fire officials, may have been caused by juveniles, according to Westland Fire Marshall Patrick Harder.

When police arrived on the scene around 11 p.m., the north side front door of the home, located on the 29600 block of Joy Road in Westland, was engulfed in flames and boys ages 12 and 13 were in the front yard with a cat and dog that were injured in the fire, according to police reports.

"It was a near total loss of the house," Harder said.

One child, the son of the homeowner, said the fire may have started after he stepped on a 6-inch butane lighter in his bedroom, police said. While the two boys were in the bedroom, according to police reports, they observed the mattress on fire.

According to Harder the police report reflects the juveniles story.

"We don't think it's arson. Maybe the kids were playing," Harder said.

Harder believes the fire could have been started by the juveniles or a space heater.

Although no humans were burned in the fire, three cats, a dog and a duck were killed in the blaze and a cat and dog were transported to the Michigan Humane Society suffering burns, Harder said.

Fire officials are also investigating an apartment fire which occurred around 4:05 p.m. on Jan. 16. Harder said the blaze is "suspicious" because of the intense heat and speed of the fire.

"We're investigating it because it was a fast, hot fire. It did more damage than an accidental fire should do," Harder said.

The fire began in the front bedroom on the second story of a London Townhouse apartment, located on the 29000 block of Manchester Street, Harder said.

The fire caused the window to break out and extended to the roof, but was mainly contained in the front room, Harder said. Other portions of the second floor suffered smoke and heat damage.

A family of three was in the home when the fire began, Harder said, and attempted to get upstairs to extinguish the fire, but were unable to do so. A family member called 911 and the three escaped.

The 53-year-old man and his 23-year-old son suffered minor injuries.

The 46-year-old woman was treated for back injuries after slipping and falling and for minor smoke inhalation, Harder said.

It's here New discount program saves readers' cash

Local advertisers in the new Associated Newspapers VIP section are expressing their surprise at the success of the new program according to Rhonda Dobbs, VIP sales director.

"We've just had a terrific response," she said. "Merchants are telling us that they have already had several people come in and use the cards--and they are surprised at the ease with which they are receiving the discounts offered."

Dobbs noted that one of her clients had already had six clients take advantage of the VIP card discount during the first few days--and another who had several people inquire about using the card.

"It's great," Dobbs said. "It's just great to have such a terrific response from the advertisers and it shows us that this program works," she said.

The new program is simple, Dobbs explained, and provides a real service to both the advertisers and those looking to purchase items at a discount or savings.

"It works out well for everyone involved," Dobbs said.

The program provides a listing in each edition of Associated Newspapers of merchants offering various discounts to VIP cardholders. The distinctive green and white cards were delivered to Associated subscribers last week, Dobbs noted, and many didn't hesitate to use them.

"We were thinking of going to the merchants to see if they worked, but before we could, we got calls from the advertisers saying how successful the ads were and that this was something really needed for a long time," Dobbs added.

The discounts are available only to the cardholders and each edition of the paper provides new listings of various discounts. Advertisers sign on for a minimum term of ads and must provide a minimum discount to cardholders, above the regular sale prices they may be advertising or honoring.

"This program makes the VIP card very special," Dobbs said, "and I can't tell you how happy the staff and I are to see this kind of success. If subscribers want to save money, and who doesn't these days, and merchants want to get people into their stores, this is the program for them," she added enthusiastically.

Dobbs is assisted in the VIP program efforts by Rob Dobbs, who is also enthusiastic about the program and the results he has heard of from his clients.

"The businesses who are buying these advertisements are buying them lock, stock and barrel," Ron Dobbs said. They really believe, as we do, that their advertisements will be viewed and considered more because the real beauty of the VIP discount program is the way it brings merchants and consumers together with volume and savings."

His sentiments were echoed by Trina MacInnis who sells the VIP program exclusively.

"Because customers are able to keep a card that is of good quality-- plastic rather than paper-- and that can be used at numerous stores, merchants are excited. Not to mention, the card is still free, although that might change," MacInnis said with a smile.

"Businesses are expecting to increase their sales and volume," Dobbs said, "and this program provides them with a reduced rate on volume advertising that people really look for in the paper. We're giving the merchants a discount for offering a discount to their customers. That's what this program is all about--discounts for everyone involved."

Dobbs noted that the discounts to the advertisers increase with the length of time they commit to the program, which is also beneficial. "Advertising is necessary to the success of any business. Without that name recognition businesses cannot really succeed. And advertising, like everything else these days, is expensive. That's the real benefit of the VIP program. We can offer merchants bulk discounts and offer customers discounts for patronizing them. Everybody wins," Dobbs said.

Advertisers will vary with each issue and the amount of discounts will change as advertisers change their copy or their special deal for the week, noted Mike Wilcox, general manager of Associated Newspapers. "This is a brand new project for us and I anticipate great success," Wilcox said. Wilcox noted that interested businesses can phone 729-4000 to speak to a VIP sales representative and that subscriptions are available by mail and carrier to ensure that readers will have the weekly discount listings delivered to their door every week.

Associated Newspapers, Inc. publishes the award-winning papers The Belleville Enterprise, The Canton Eagle, The Inkster Ledger-Star, The Romulus Roman, The Wayne Eagle and The Westland Eagle.

"It didn't get screwed up overnight, and it won't get fixed overnight." Commented new 34th District Court Administrator Michael Ramsey, when quizzed about the missing court funds and allegations of embezzlements.

Of Note

Police investigate restaurant robbery

Wayne Police detectives are investigating a robbery which occurred at approximately 8:20 p.m. Jan. 24 at the Hungry Howie's establishment, 5711 Wayne Road.

A black male between 18 to 22 years old, approximately 5-feet, 11-inches tall, walked into the restaurant and demanded cash from the cashier, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"He fled on foot after he was given the money," Drews said. "No one was injured."

Anyone with information on the incident is requested by Drews to contact the Wayne Police Department at 721-1414.

Sentencing set for Westland men

Two Westland men are expected to be sentenced Feb. 15 on charges of felonious assault before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Daphne Curtis.

Richard Porter, 17, and Robert Bunton, 20, were allegedly involved in an assault incident at George's Fun Center parking lot on Michigan Avenue in Wayne at 11:53 p.m. Aug. 27, 1993.

Both defendants were arraigned Aug. 29 in an out-county court before Judge William Sutherland. A $5,000 cash bond was set. On Sept. 8 Porter and Bunton appeared for an examination before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, and they were bound over to Recorder's Court.

Both defendants were told to stay out of the City of Wayne, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"They are not to have any contact with the complainant," Drews said. "Both also received a curfew."

The incident allegedly initiated from an argument which resulted in one victim being hit by a baseball bat and one being hit by a shovel, according to Drews.

Final conference set for Wayne man

A Feb. 25 final conference has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with third-degree criminal sexual conduct before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Thomas Jackson.

David Regehr, 21, was arrested by Wayne police in an incident which involved a 13-year-old female, according to Wayne police Sgt. Bob McIntyre.

"We had three juveniles at a home in the city of Wayne where they were allowed to smoke grass (marijuana) and drink booze," McIntyre said. "One juvenile was a 13-year-old female who alleges she had a sexual relationship with the 21-year-old."

The incident allegedly occurred Oct. 3. McIntyre said a report wasn't filed with police until Nov. 16.

Victim shot Teen body discovered in Wayne basement

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

The Wayne Police Department is investigating an incident which resulted in the death of a Taylor man found in the basement of a Wayne home on First Street on Wednesday.

"We received a call 7:20 p.m. on a dead body found in a basement on the 4000 block of First Street," Wayne Police Chief John Colligan said. "Officers responded to the area and found a 19-year-old white male who had one gunshot wound to the chest."

The victim was identified by Wayne police as Steven James Taylor.

"The Wayne County prosecutor is expected to issue a warrant for the arrest of a 65-year-old Wayne man," Colligan said. "The charges, however, have yet to come from the prosecutor's office."

Police expected the suspect to be arrested and arraigned in the 29th District Court Jan. 28.

The resident could be charged with first-degree murder, according to police.

"The victim arrived at the Wayne home as a visitor approximately 6 p.m. Jan. 26," Colligan said. "There were only two people home at the time of the incident."

Police would not release any more information until the suspect is arraigned.

Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews is heading the investigation. Anyone with information on the incident is requested by Drews to contact the Wayne Police Department at 721-1313.

This is the first homicide of the year in Wayne, according to Colligan.

Rustic touch Outhouse is still in fashion

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

For most folks, the outhouse is a bit of antiquity that is best forgotten, but a Van Buren Township woman values the privy as a part of rural history.

Shirley Straub enjoys preserving the past, but not to the extent that she would give up the modern plumbing in her home, especially with the temperatures dipping below zero.

"I've always been interested in old outhouses. When I took a drive in the country, I'd always be on the look-out for old ones in remote areas," Straub said. "It may sound silly to some, but I always wanted one in my yard. They are a bit of our rural heritage, just like other antique items that are no longer in use."

Although the modern flush toilet was invented in 1775, it was a century later before the invention replaced the chamber pots and outhouses in American. Even after the turn-of-the-century, areas without sewer systems continued to depend on outdoor privies.

The outhouse on her Elwell Road property was recently constructed by her son, Keith Bruder, and erected as "a focal point" in her yard.

"I was really surprised when he made it for me," Straub said. "I had talked about one for

Inkster siblings found guilty of murder

A brother and sister, who police said were hired guns, face up to life in prison in the shooting death of an Inkster man.

Clinton Cheeks, who recently turned 16, was found guilty Wednesday by a Recorder's Court jury of first-degree murder. The jury also found him guilty of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

Krystal Cheeks, Clint's 17-year-old sister, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the slaying of David Pasley.

Pasley was shot to death in September of 1993 in his girlfriend's home in the city of Inkster. The 28-year-old Pasley is the brother of convicted drug dealer, Tyrone Pasley, who is serving time in a federal prison for possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver and also money laundering.

The two-week trial, conducted in Judge Warfield Moore's courtroom, was a near rerun of the preliminary exam

Basketball game turns into fighting match

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

What started out as a high school basketball battle Jan. 21 between the Belleville Tigers and the Wayne Memorial Zebras turned into a fighting match in the bleachers.

Wayne police arrested six students after a fight broke out in the stands approximately 9:01 p.m., according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"A large fight occurred in the stands on the Wayne Memorial side," Drews said. "No serious injuries took place, however, we arrested four 17-year-olds and two juveniles."

Those arrested were charged with disorderly person in fighting. If they are found guilty, they could receive up to 90 days in jail, according to Drews.

Police could not release the names of the two juveniles, however, the four Ypsilanti adults who were ticketed and released included Belleville High students Booker Williams, Fred Taylor, Carlos Smith, and Garland Johnson.

Drews said the Belleville students started the fight by spitting on the Wayne Memorial students.

"Additional assistance from the police department was requested to break up the fight," Drews said. "The Belleville students should have been sitting in the Belleville section."

The next evening, Smith and Taylor were allegedly in-involved in a shooting incident involving a drug deal on Cayuga near West Willow Park in Ypsilanti, according to Sgt. Dan Minzey from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

A 30-year-old Ypsilanti man was allegedly shot by the two teen-agers during the attempted drug deal, according to Minzey.

"One of the teen-agers put a gun to the man's head and pulled the trigger, however, only a click was heard," Minzey said. "Then, the teen-ager put the gun to the man's chest and pulled the trigger again, and a second click was heard."

When the victim drove away to escape, Minzey said it was Taylor who shot at the van, and this time a bullet went through the window and into the man's leg.

"There was a sheriff's deputy near by who heard the gunshot and found the man approximately 9:30 p.m. on Cayuga, only a few minutes after he had been shot," Minzey said. "He was still inside of his van."

The victim was taken to Beyer Hospital where he was treated and released.

"We were able to get a search warrant the next day and arrested both individuals," Minzey said. "They were charged with armed robbery and attempted murder."

Smith and Taylor were arraigned Jan. 24. No bond was set for Taylor, however Smith posted a $250 bond. A Jan. 31 examination has been set for both defendants in the Ypsilanti Township 14th District Court.

Ford's retirement surprises many

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

When Congressman William D. Ford (D-13) announced that he will retire at the end of the 103rd Congress, he also pledged to work tirelessly during the remainder of his term "to improve the quality of life and the personal security of all Americans."

Ford is expected to play a key part in developing support for President Bill Clinton's health care reform program. News of Ford's decision to retire prompted comments from many of his colleagues and constituents.

Secretary of Labor William Reich, whose plans to visit Wayne and Westland last week with Ford were dismissed at the last minute, said Ford's presence on Capitol Hill "will be sorely missed not only by those of us in Washington who worked with him over the years, but, more importantly, by the working men and women of this country."

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala said Ford has served the 13th Congressional District well, and termed him "a remarkable public servant and a gifted legislator."

"Rep. Ford's work is not yet done. The President, First Lady and I look forward to working with him and his House, Education and Labor Committee to enact legislation guaranteeing all Americans a comprehensive package of health benefits that can never be taken away," said Shalala.

Michigan Democratic Party Chairman Gary Corbin said Ford's decision to retire is far more than a partisan loss.

"It is a loss that will be experienced in very real terms by every resident of Michigan's 13th Congressional District, the state of Michigan and, indeed, the entire country," Corbin said. "Perhaps no one in Congress better understands the challenges and hardships experienced by ordinary people. The U.S. House of Representatives will be a lesser place because of Bill Ford's retirement."

On the other hand, John Schall, who announced his candidacy for the 13th District congressional seat last September, sees Ford's retirement as "the end of an era."

"I've been running as a new voice for the people of the 13th District. This campaign is about the future - about getting

Violence, uncertain hours spark 'roller coaster' stress

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

It's 3 a.m. Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews is awakened by a detective in his department who informs him of a murder that just occurred on Michigan Avenue.

Tired from having worked a 14-hour shift already, Drews gets dressed and heads out to the scene where he finds the body of a man who has been brutally beaten and shot at close range in the chest.

This scenario is part of the life of every police officer, called all hours of the day or night to handle any type of criminal activity from sexual assaults to murder.

Investigating a case from beginning to end may be routine for a detective, but the stress factor involved with each day "on the job" for a police officer is like a roller coaster.

In fact, according to a recent survey by the American Institute on stress, the role of a police officer is the second most stressful job anyone can have.

Drews said he can attest to the level of stress involved with police work. He joined the Wayne Police Department in June 1974.

"Probably the most stressful aspect of this job would be shift work, rotation of days off," Drews said. "Not knowing what to expect from minute to minute is very stressful. You don't know how long you will be there or what could happen."

Drews said the most stressful case he has worked on involved a stabbing incident which occurred in December, 1991.

Controllers face deadly pressure

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

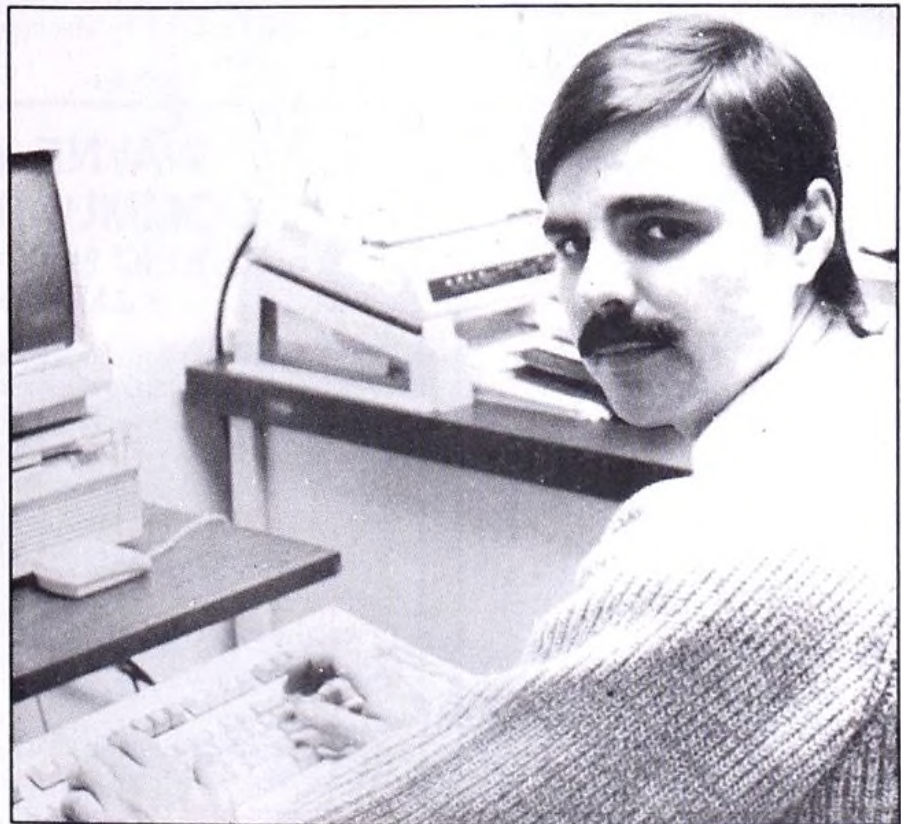

The job stress level of air traffic controllers (ATC) has continued to grow since their 1981 battle with President Ronald Reagan, with air traffic increasing nationally by 30 percent and the number of ATCs shrinking by 2,500.

The above observations were offered last week by Jim Green, who has been an air traffic controller for more than 10 years, the last five and a half at Detroit Metro Airport in Romulus.

"What adds to the stress," Green said, "is the fact that anything less than a 100 percent success ratio is unacceptable. If we score 99 percent or lower," he explained, "we have not succeeded."

Many factors including weather in our area, or even weather conditions impacting another airport, can have a tremendous affect on our day's activities, Green said.

A growing number of women today are getting involved in the air traffic controller positions, Green said, and he estimated that about 20 percent of the work force is currently made up of women.

Jim Green

Most air traffic controllers are extremely self-confident individuals, fairly assertive and in the majority of cases extroverted personalities, Green observed.

"A good sense of humor, also is a key element of a quality air traffic controller," Green said.

"Since we can't afford to have a bad day," Green said, "we undergo monthly training and update sessions. Like other high stress jobs, air traffic controllers also have a high divorce rate."

Like police and firefighters, air traffic controllers also have 20-year career cycles, Green concluded.

'Blackboard jungle' scenarios extend to suburban schools

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

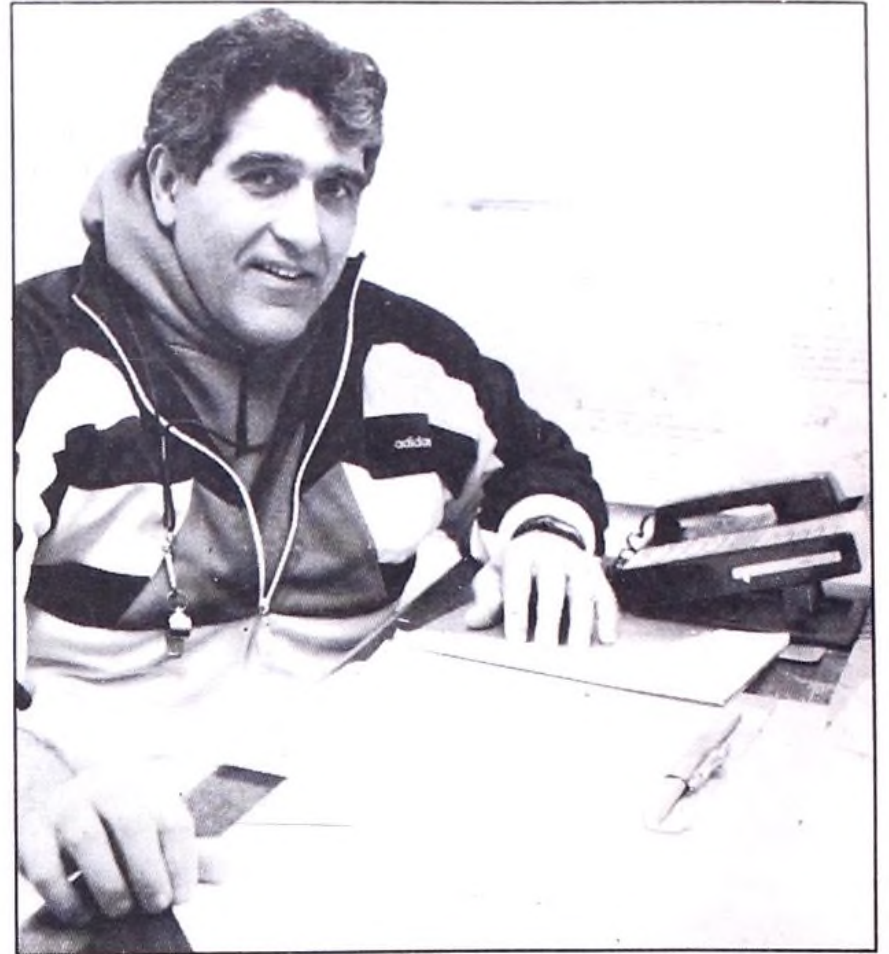

Somewhere between the celluloid world, as depicted by the movie thriller, The Blackboard Jungle and the realities of current classrooms, is a twilight zone where the teacher of today is somehow learning how to cope with stress.

Teaching, especially at the high school level in an urban environment, has soared to the top of the stress barometer.

For obvious reasons, the urban classroom has been turned into a precarious stage of reality where the players have real weapons and know how to use them. Drugs are commonplace and transactions are punctuated by verbal and physical threats. Abusive and obscene language directed at teachers is not unheard of.

Virtually unknown back in the 1940s and 1950s, students are killed because of the clothes and jackets and gymshoes they wear.

And the shocking truth is that the majority of the educators must try to implement their lesson plans have control over their classrooms at all times and produce the student of the 21st century while these life-threatening incidents go on in their classrooms.

Unfortunately, the problems aren't contained in the inner city. It has spilled over to the suburbs, once considered immune to classroom violence.

Stress served with daily orders

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

When hungry customers sit down at a table in Baker's Square in Westland, they usually have no idea that the smiling woman bringing them their meals has just been in the walk-in refrigerator, screaming to relieve the stress of dealing with folks just like them.

Barbara Statham recently returned to waitressing after having been out of the field for 20 years.

Statham, who has worked as a waitress at Baker's Square for three years, said she began waitressing again because she enjoys talking and working with people.

"I really enjoy dealing with the public. Sometimes I'll know half of a person's life before they walk out the door," Statham said.

However, being on her feet from the moment she walks into the door until she leaves to go home can take a lot out of this mother of four, who asks her three children living at home, twins age 10 and one 12-year-old, to give her 15 minutes of time to herself so she can just sit and relax before making dinner for her family.

"Sometimes if the kids are really anxious to talk to me about something they'll set a time clock when I get home," Statham said.

The time alone relieves stress at home, but Statham has a different method for relieving stress at work. If things get too stressful she goes into the walk-in refrigerator and screams to let off a little steam.

"It really helps relieve stress," Statham said.

One stressful part of Statham's job is making sure each of the customers at her tables are serviced promptly.

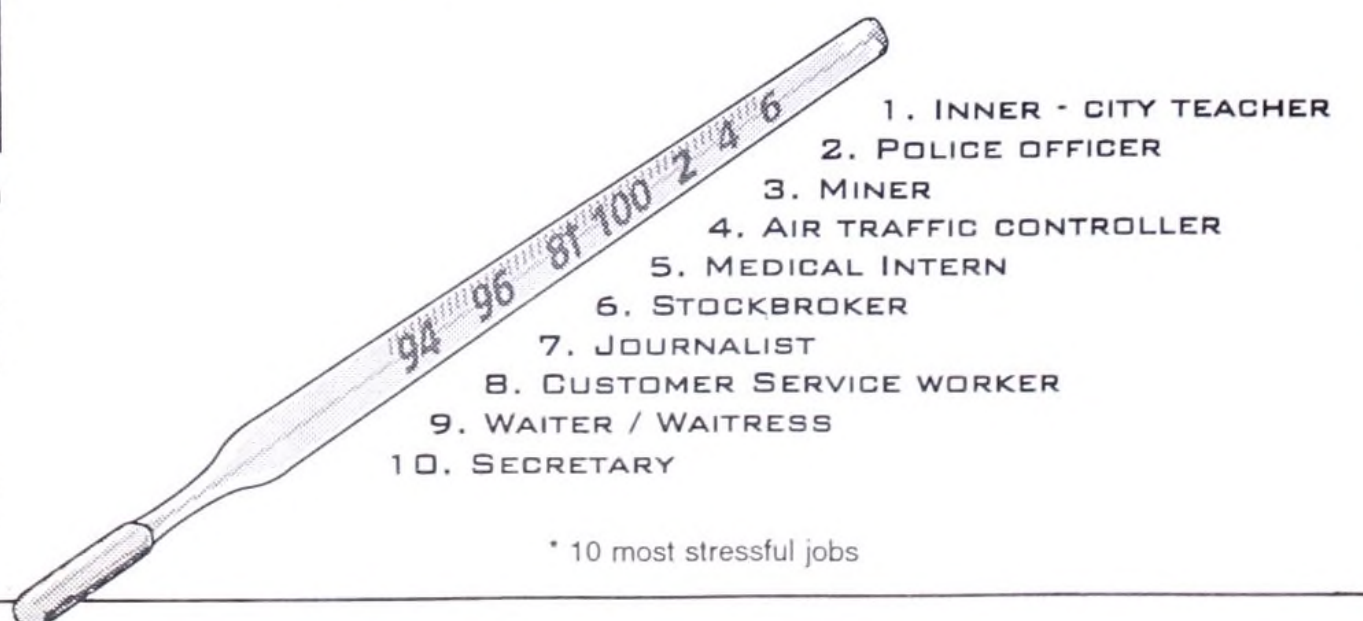

"I have six tables of guests sitting in various stages of their meals. It's a constant mental exercise to prioritize my jobs. Hot food to tables is my first priority, but we have service standards to greet a table within 60 seconds after they were seated," Statham said.

Some of Statham's job as a server include: hostessing, handling the cash register, decorating pies and the restaurant, cutting pies, serving food, keeping plates and beverages stocked, writing floor plans and shift sheets, and bussing and setting tables.

"The most stressful part of the job is dealing with cranky customers and having all the side work (work other than serving food and taking orders) done. If all I had to do was take care of the customers it would be easier," Statham said.

"I don't generally have very much trouble. If they come in a bad mood I get them out of the bad mood," she said.

34th District Court controversy continues to plague leaders

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Unanswered questions which still plague the 34th District Court surfaced at the Tuesday meeting of District Control Unit (DCU). Representatives of the five communities served by the court are still asking:

- What happened to the missing $270,000?
- Will charges be filed against any former or current court employees?
- Was there a conspiracy involved in the embezzlement of funds?
- Have all of the auditors suggestions been put in place?

"All of the suggested procedures are in place," said Judge Felix Rogalle, who assumed the position of chief judge at the beginning of the year. "Some were done after the state audit, and some were done by Mike (Ramsey)."

None of the other questions was completely answered by Rogalle or the newly hired Administrator Michael Ramsey. Both indicated that the status of the ongoing investigation prevented them from answering the questions posed by the DCU members.

Tension has existed between the communities and the court since it was reported that $270,000 in court funds was missing. Only recently has the term, embezzlement, been used. In March, 1993, the former court administrator and her assistant were placed on paid leaves, and several months later the administrator resigned and the assistant's position was abolished.

No charges have been filed against anyone, and members of the five communities - Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron - complained that they have been "stonewalled" when requesting information on the status of the investigation.

Judge Rogalle reported that the Romulus-based court is "in really good shape" and "morale has never been higher."

The chief judge noted that the court has cut the cost to house prisoners, implemented a work program, instituted a victim support panel and started self-improvement and domestic violence programs.

"We're not in bad shape. We're one of the leaders," Rogalle said.

Although fences are being mended between the 34th District Court and the five communities it serves, the possibility of some members establishing an off-shoot of the court is still possible.

"I'm not dropping the idea of establishing a 34B court. I've talked to (Rep. Curtis) Hertel, (Rep. Deborah) Whyman and (Sen. William) Faust about it," said Sumpter Township Supervisor Marvin Banotai.

"I'm pleased with the new administrator and with the openness, but I'm not buying out of the idea of an option. I'm holding with Marv," said Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jakes. "All we want to know is if we are moving in the right direction. We want to know about the missing $270,000 and if there was a conspiracy."

Jakes called for an end to the "us and them" mentality of the court and the five communities, saying, "Now, it's just us. We can work together."

The Van Buren Township supervisor said he wants assurances that the court is "clean" today.

Ramsey said that everything now comes across his desk, and if there is an error or a questionable procedure, it must be explained to him.

"I began (revamping of procedures) with the handling of the money. Some individuals had too much control over the money. Now, no one has full control. I'm at the end, making final approvals," Ramsey said. "It didn't get screwed up overnight, and it won't get fixed overnight."

Huron Township Supervisor Christine Gamber, who serves as DCU chairman for the 34th District Court, noted that the five communities are not anxious to break from the current court.

"Not, if we can rely on it being run efficiently and legally, but, we are still considering alternate measures if we cannot be satisfied," Gamber said. "The communities are suspicious, because of the past. We have an obligation to our communities to see that checks and balances are in place."

Ramsey pledged to keep an "open door" policy and to continue his implementation of safeguards on money handling procedures.

In a bit of good news to the DCU representatives, Rogalle said the court expects to have a revenue surplus of $800,000 for the current fiscal year. He also reported that the State Police have promised a report on the investigation within two weeks.

On Feb. 22, the DCU will meet to discuss the purpose, role and responsibilities of its representatives. The group has proposed to study the establishment of an authority to oversee the operations of the district court.

Court delays trial on injunction against injection well owner

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A bench trial on a permanent injunction request by the city of Romulus against liquid injection well owner Environmental Disposal Systems was postponed last Wednesday by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Claudia House Morcom.

In addition to delaying the trial, Morcom also failed to hear a summary disposition motion by Romulus, which if granted in its entirety could make a trial unnecessary.

Both judicial action on the motion and the possible trial opening are slated now for 9 a.m. Feb. 7.

Morcom had told Romulus City Attorney Barry Seifman earlier that she needed to finish the trial she currently was presiding over before setting a start up time for the Romulus trial.

The Romulus City Council, however, did meet Wednesday night in executive session on matters concerning the environmental well legal battle.

When they returned to a public special meeting, the council voted to have Seifman draw up a potential millage issue for the June election in which the city would ask the voters to create an environmental protection and defense fund.

Mayor Beverly McAnally said the millage question would probably be set at one mill or less.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks stated, "We realize environmental problems in the city will not just go away. We will be confronted with these issues for many years to come and need to be ever watchful."

Council members reportedly said the fund being sought is not only needed for the current legal hassle with EDS, but with past and future landfill issues and other environmental concerns.

Banks also revealed that the council is seeking assistance from the Michigan Municipal League in defining its rights as a "home rule" city.

She said the city leaders were probably wrong in 1990 when EDS officials told them that Environmental Protection Agency and Michigan Department of Natural Resources edicts superseded Romulus city ordinances.

In retrospect, "it just doesn't ring true at this time that our home rule status can be tossed aside so easily in this matter," Banks stated. Thus, she said, we need some advice from the league on the "home rule" issue.

Accused child molester to face trial downtown

A Garden City man who has been jailed on several misdemeanor charges involving the spanking of children on elementary school playgrounds was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court for trial on two counts of criminal sexual conduct (CSC) against a child under 13 years of age.

Steven Brion Smith, 31, who waived his right to a preliminary examination before Westland 18th District Judge Gail McKnight, was charged with two counts of second-degree CSC for allegedly sexually molesting a 12-year-old child on Wildwood Elementary School grounds after spanking him and three other young boys on the playground Jan. 11, according to Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore.

Smith was identified in a police line-up last week and is being held on a $100,000 cash bond pending arraignment in Recorder's Court on Feb. 10.

The alleged incident occurred after school let out, and according to Moore, Smith did not know the children involved.

"He pulled one of the students pants down and fondled him," Moore said.

Smith has been arrested for prior spanking incidents, according to Moore, but never in connection with sexual assaults.

"He's dangerous. In the past he's exposed himself to children, but never at the same time as the spanking incidents," Moore added.

Smith has been arrested and jailed on assault and battery charges for spankings at Kettering and Elliott elementary schools in Westland and two Garden City elementary schools, Moore said. He has also been charged with an indecent exposure incident near another Westland elementary school, Moore added.

"We have put him in jail before for going on school playgrounds and spanking kids," Moore said.

These incidents have occurred over a two-year period and Smith has been jailed up to 89 days on all of these charges, Moore added.

Moore encouraged past victims of Smith to come forward and testify at his trial by contacting her at the Westland police Detective Bureau at 721-6311.

staged Oct. 13 in the 22nd District Court in Inkster.

"We had the crime lab and a weapons experts testify," noted Inkster Detective Charles Givens, who was in charge of the investigation. "Clinton could get up to life in prison for his part in the homicide, while Krystal could get 10 to 20 for second degree murder."

Judge Moore has not set a sentencing date.

During the investigation, Givens said that the siblings killed Pasley for money.

Pasley was living at a girlfriend's house located in the 3500 block of Walnut. On Sept. 26, the siblings, accompanied by a friend, went to the house. The friend refused to believe that the two were going to kill Pasley and walked to the corner.

The jury was not convinced, and the jury members found him guilty

She stated that Clinton and Krystal went into the house and shortly afterwards she heard gun shots. She said that the two ran from the house.

Clinton was 15-years-old at the time of the killing. Police secured a waiver to try him as an adult. Although Krystal orchestrated and plotted the homicide, Clinton was the triggerman.

Clinton Cheeks told juvenile authorities at the time of his arrest that he did not want to kill Pasley, but to scare him.

The jury was not convinced, and the jury members found him guilty on all three counts.

the economy moving and creating jobs. I'll be talking about the issues that matter for the future: crime, health care, education and jobs," Schall said.

Ford served 30 years in Congress from the presidency of Lyndon Johnson through the current administration of Bill Clinton.

"My polls tell me that my district is a stronger Democratic district than it was two years ago, and that my chances of re-election are excellent. But time has snuck up on me," Ford said. "As I approach my 67th birthday, it is time for me to focus on my remaining years. I want to spend more time doing the things I enjoy and concentrating on my family whose sacrifices, because of my career, have been immense and often painful."

Ford, the current chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, promised to work tirelessly during the remainder of his term to fulfill the goals of President Clinton to improve the quality of life and the personal security of all Americans.

The congressman began his career as a Taylor Township justice of the peace from 1955-57, and was elected to the Michigan Senate in 1963. In 1964, Ford was elected to the House of Representatives where he has served for the past 30 years.

years, but I didn't expect to really get an outhouse."

Her new acquisition was presented to her in a highly dramatic manner, she said.

"The outhouse was used by Keith on the float he entered in the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade," Straub said. "When the float passed me, he jumped off and presented me with a latch for the outhouse door."

The area where the outhouse is erected has been landscaped and, after the snows melt and spring arrives, Shirley Straub plans to plant some of the traditional outhouse flowers - hollyhocks - around her new building.

"I don't know why everyone used to plant hollyhocks around their outhouses, but that was the flower they used," said Straub who hopes to duplicate the outhouses of yesterday as closely as possible.

TOYLAND

It was a day for children of all ages to enjoy a world where only toys existed.

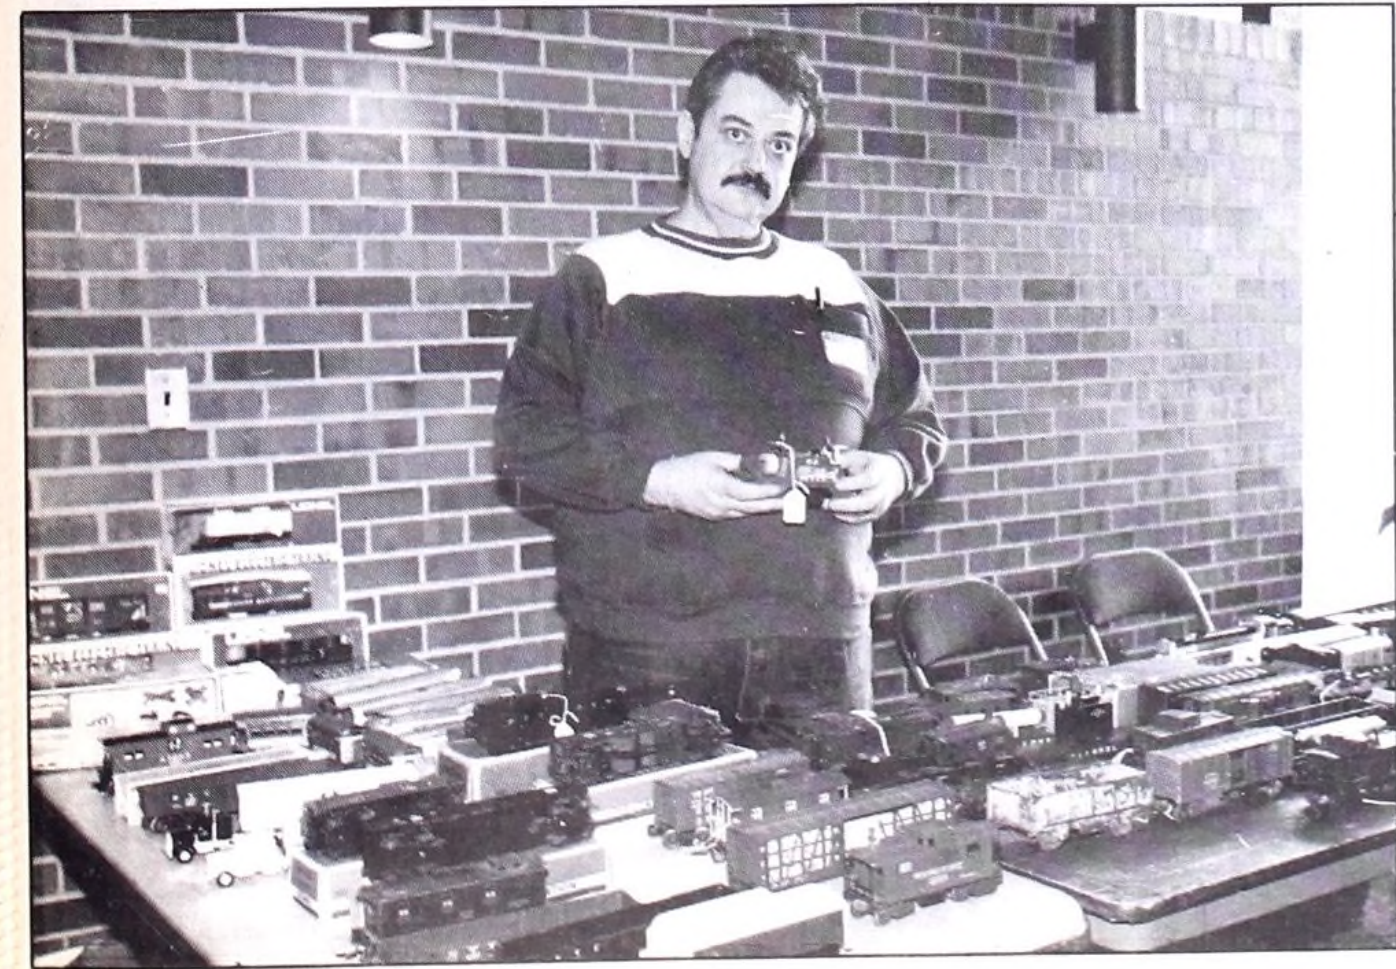

Residents of all ages recently were mesmerized by hundreds of toys and dolls at the Antique Toy, Doll and Collectible Show which took place at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Children were able to browse through little towns filled with toy houses and stores. Boys were able to have their dreams come true by seeing the various components of a train in miniature size.

Justin Trojniak, 3, (top) checks out a school toy-size house. Eric Hindmon and Adam Hamilton of Westland (right) sort through various action figurines.

The event took place from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Secretary sees self 'balancing' stress

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

What is it about the workplace that can make employees go home with a headache or a 20-percent less hair on their head? Many employees would claim it is the level of stress experienced on the job.

According to Connie Roessler, secretary to Township Clerk Loren Bennett, stress is evidenced in her office every day.

"It's a balancing act," said Roessler. "I'm Loren's secretary, the board's secretary and help when we have elections. I wouldn't be able to manage without the help of everyone in this office. We have a wonderful staff."

Employed by the township for eight years, Roessler has worked in her current position for three years and has no intention of leaving.

"I come to work every day because my job is purposeful. I always feel like I'm doing something worthwhile," said the woman, "and Loren is very nice to work for. He always pitches in when I need help."

To ease her mind after a hard day at work, Roessler reads, exercises, cooks and spends time with her family.

"You have to be able to leave it at work," she said, "and the job is good because it came right at the point where my 21 and 23-year-old sons didn't want my help anymore. Every job is what you make of it and (in the process) I'm letting my sons grow up."

Connie Roessler

Roessler added that working for the township in which she lives also inspires her to continue her work pace.

"I think when you live in the community and work in it, too, there is an incentive to do your best, regardless of the stress."

"It involved one individual being stabbed and another being hit in the head with a frying pan and then being stabbed," Drews said. "There was blood over two rooms. Young children were involved. It took a couple of days for the investigation process to be completed."

Trying to keep emotionally detached from a case isn't easy, according to Drews, but it has to be done on a daily basis.

"You have to learn to keep your mind clear," Drews said. "You have to stay focused on the investigation."

If an officer is in need of assistance with relieving some stress, Drews said a city Employee Assistance program is available to each officer.

"We're not just talking about stress on the job either," Drews said. "With this job, it affects your family life as well."

Officers with children may not make it for every play or game, and that upsets the family.

"Wives get upset because you're never home at a certain time, and you may be called to work any time of the day."

The average age for retirement of a fire official or police officer is 50. Drews said the shift commander's position is probably the most stressful in the police department.

"He holds the pulse of the city in his hand," Drews said. "He has to be able to make decisions clearly and quickly."

Drews said his job as head of the detective bureau is also very demanding. He has four sergeants under his command as well as a secretary.

"You're always on call," Drews said. "Many times I get calls from the shift commander asking for my advice."

It is often difficult for a police officer to leave the job without thinking about it when relaxing at home, according to Drews.

"I try to read to relax, and I enjoy traveling," Drews said.

Work tension is common condition

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

One doesn't have to be an air traffic controller or police officer to experience job stress. In fact, some 90 percent of workers complain of tension and stress in the workplace.

While stress cannot be totally eliminated, there are ways to cope with it and lessen its effects, according to Roger Dallwig of His Place/Her Place Counseling Center.

"One of the ways to lessen stress at work is to set priorities. That will help you to feel more in control," Dallwig said. "List a few goals for the day - no more than two or three. If one sets too many goals, then there is disappointment and frustration if the goals are not all met."

"Start working on the most difficult task, then move on to the easier ones. There will be a feeling of satisfaction when the tasks are completed, and you will feel more in control," he said.

"There are three ways to deal with stress: Eliminate the stressor, learn relaxation techniques to deal with it or change your preception of the stressful situation."

Roger Dallwig

"There are three ways to deal with stress: Eliminate the stressor, learn relaxation techniques to deal with it or change your perception of the stressful situation," Dallwig said.

"Some of the methods of dealing with stress on the job are breathing exercises and muscle relaxing techniques," he said. "If you have a desk job, you can decrease tension by sitting quietly for a few moments with your eyes closed and your feet flat on the floor. You also could use visual imagery - think of something relaxing such as a mountain scene, a sunny beach or a pleasant experience."

Dallwig said it is helpful to do something different in the after-work hours so that one can return to work refreshed.

"If you stand all day, find an activity where you can sit, and vice versa. Do something that requires the use of different muscles and different skills during your non-working hours," Dallwig said. "A person who sits at a desk all day, shouldn't go home and sit in front of the television set. He or she should try something active."

Dallwig noted that exercise need not be exhausting. Many activities such as walking, swimming or moderate exercise are not tiring.

"It also helps to keep a sense of humor during the stressful periods," Dallwig said.

"It is a tough job," says Sam Ellis, a veteran educator, who has taught for more than two decades in the inner city, including a stint at Detroit Pershing High School.

The proliferation of guns and drugs in the classroom has left its scars on teachers, Ellis believes. And, a solution to the problem isn't on the immediate horizon.

"Because, these kids don't have positive male role models," Ellis said, "and until we solve the social ills of our society, we will continue to have these problems."

The fallout from the Blackboard Jungle has taken its toll on teachers within the city as well as in the suburbs.

"There is stress - a lot of stress," Ellis continues. "But, you have to realize that this isn't an inner city problem any more. It has spread to the suburbs. The sooner we address it, the better it will be for all of those who are concerned about kids and education in this country."

Ellis said that he has taken "a few guns and weapons away from kids and also has received his share of threats," however, the former Dearborn Fordson and Eastern Michigan University wrestling star has managed to become a "calming force in the eyes of some storms."

"It is a shame - no, it's a tragedy that a teacher shows up at school prepared to teach and finds himself playing police officer, psychiatrist, father and mother - you name it."

"There are some kids that are always ready to challenge you, and these kids need help. A lot of help," he said.

Ellis said that many of the students want to be "in" and, therefore, will wear clothes that will make them acceptable to the "in" crowd. These kids put their lives on the line because there are always others who don't have the means to purchase the items and therefore will "take what they want by any means."

And, because teachers must always be alert to precarious situations, it adds to the stress factor.

"I jog to relieve my stress," he points out. "It really helps me."

Ellis, 42, who has taught American government and economics on the high school level, presently is a bilingual educator at a Detroit middle school. He has been an educator for 21 years and one of his credos of classroom survival is good today as it was 20 years ago.

"Treat kids with respect and dignity and, above all, no favorites. Treat them all the same. It has helped me a lot over these years."

It's here New discount program saves readers' cash

Local advertisers in the new Associated Newspapers VIP section are expressing their surprise at the success of the new program according to Rhonda Dobbs, VIP sales director.

"We've just had a terrific response," she said. "Merchants are telling us that they have already had several people come in and use the cards--and they are surprised at the ease with which they are receiving the discounts offered."

Dobbs noted that one of her clients had already had six clients take advantage of the VIP card discount during the first few days--and another who had several people inquire about using the card.

"It's great," Dobbs said. "It's just great to have such a terrific response from the advertisers and it shows us that this program works," she said.

The new program is simple, Dobbs explained, and provides a real service to both the advertisers and those looking to purchase items at a discount or savings.

"It works out well for everyone involved," Dobbs said.

The program provides a listing in each edition of Associated Newspapers of merchants offering various discounts to VIP cardholders. The distinctive green and white cards were delivered to Associated subscribers last week, Dobbs noted, and many didn't hesitate to use them.

"We were thinking of going to the merchants to see if they worked, but before we could, we got calls from the advertisers saying how successful the ads were and that this was something really needed for a long time," Dobbs added.

The discounts are available only to the cardholders and each edition of the paper provides new listings of various discounts. Advertisers sign on for a minimum term of ads and must provide a minimum discount to cardholders, above the regular sale prices they may be advertising or honoring.

"This program makes the VIP card very special," Dobbs said, "and I can't tell you how happy the staff and I are to see this kind of success. If subscribers want to save money, and who doesn't these days, and merchants want to get people into their stores, this is the program for them," she added enthusiastically.

Dobbs is assisted in the VIP program efforts by Rob Dobbs, who is also enthusiastic about the program and the results he has heard of from his clients.

"The businesses who are buying these advertisements are buying them lock, stock and barrel," Ron Dobbs said. They really believe, as we do, that their advertisements will be viewed and considered more because the real beauty of the VIP discount program is the way it brings merchants and consumers together with volume and savings."

His sentiments were echoed by Trina MacInnis who sells the VIP program exclusively.

"Because customers are able to keep a card that is of good quality-- plastic rather than paper-- and that can be used at numerous stores, merchants are excited. Not to mention, the card is still free, although that might change," MacInnis said with a smile.

"Businesses are expecting to increase their sales and volume," Dobbs said, "and this program provides them with a reduced rate on volume advertising that people really look for in the paper. We're giving the merchants a discount for offering a discount to their customers. That's what this program is all about--discounts for everyone involved."

Dobbs noted that the discounts to the advertisers increase with the length of time they commit to the program, which is also beneficial. "Advertising is necessary to the success of any business. Without that name recognition businesses cannot really succeed. And advertising, like everything else these days, is expensive. That's the real benefit of the VIP program. We can offer merchants bulk discounts and offer customers discounts for patronizing them. Everybody wins," Dobbs said.

Advertisers will vary with each issue and the amount of discounts will change as advertisers change their copy or their special deal for the week, noted Mike Wilcox, general manager of Associated Newspapers. "This is a brand new project for us and I anticipate great success," Wilcox said. Wilcox noted that interested businesses can phone 729-4000 to speak to a VIP sales representative and that subscriptions are available by mail and carrier to ensure that readers will have the weekly discount listings delivered to their door every week.

Associated Newspapers, Inc. publishes the award-winning papers The Belleville Enterprise, The Canton Eagle, The Inkster Ledger-Star, The Romulus Roman, The Wayne Eagle and The Westland Eagle.

Secret of success Local entrepreneur promises good service, best prices

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

Richard Gallucci has the drive to succeed.

After years of working for someone else, Gallucci decided to take the risk and open his own business. Nearly two months later, Gallucci reports that Tire Busters of America is running smoothly.

"We've got a steady flow of customers coming in all the time," said the owner. "I pretty much know all my customers."

Specializing in tires, both spare and new, Tire Busters of America also offers muffler work, oil changes and sells new and used standard and custom rims. Muffler repairs start at $10, new tires begin at $18 and spare tires are as low as $5.

money," said Gallucci. "That's what the public wants - good service and to save money. We're the people that care about you."

Offering a 30-day guarantee on most used tires, Tire Busters of America is on the corner of Michigan Avenue and Harris Road in Ypsilanti, servicing customers between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

In addition to emergency road service, jump starts or troubleshooting, Tire Busters of America offers a complete line of truck, car and farm tire service. "We fix it all, big or small," said the Gallucci.

For a limited time, Tire Busters of America is offering free mounting to VIP card holders who mention the advertisement.

Well project to improve economy

The creation of a $6.1 million deep injection well for non-hazardous and hazardous liquid materials could provide the stimulus for accelerated industrial growth in Romulus, Environmental Disposal Systems President Douglas Wicklund continues to stress to city officials and residents.

The well project and the accompanying economic potential for the city was vividly brought to the attention of the city in 1990, Wicklund explained, and construction work on the more than 4,000-foot deep well began this summer.

The well construction already totaling more than $2 million had previously been approved by the national Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Natural Resources and Wicklund said "EDS wants to enter into a partnership with the local citizens and leadership in Romulus to maximize beneficial development of the city's human and physical resources."

Emphasizing that the waste water would be injected into the earth 4,000 feet below any usable drinking water, Wicklund said, EDS continues to work to assure leadership in the city that the facility is designed in a manner to fully protect local residents' health.

Wicklund emphasized, "Our primary market will be in servicing manufacturers in the southeastern Michigan area."

EDS plans to "offer liquid waste generators substantial cost savings by allowing them access to a secure disposal facility and therefore an alternative to landfill disposal, incineration and other high-risk practices."

EDS plans to build a permanent laboratory and local office on the site off Grant and Wahrman roads and has offered the city a 5-percent royalty on the gross revenue once the facility is totally operational.

"We are convinced that our construction, operation and administrative activities will not only create jobs and business opportunities for city residents," Wicklund said, "but will provide education and occupational training opportunities as well."

Wicklund introduced an outline last November for a public-private partnership that would cover the creation of a Community Development Committee and establishment of a Romulus Community Education Foundation.

Wicklund and other EDS officials currently are conducting an ongoing communication tour of city service clubs and other organizations to eliminate the confusion over deep injection wells.

Wicklund said that a massive brochure packet is available on EDS history and plans and is free for the asking. Further information can be obtained by calling 955-2100.

First National Bank success story revealed

On Feb. 17, 1936, the First National Bank of Ann Arbor (founded in 1863), the Ann Arbor Savings Bank (1869) and the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank (1883) united their $13 million assets to become the Ann Arbor Savings and Commercial Bank.

The original board of directors consisted of 17 prominent business leaders and University of Michigan officials.

The past decades have seen the bank name change three times to: Ann Arbor Bank in 1942, Ann Arbor Bank and Trust in 1974 and to First of America Bank-Ann Arbor in 1983.

First of America Bank-Wayne was founded in 1953 and merged with First of America Bank-Ann Arbor in 1987. In 1992, First of America Bank-Livingston (1865) and First of America Bank-Plymouth (1974) also joined the bank.

For more than 50 years, the bank's headquarters has remained in the former Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank building at the corner of Main and Huron in Ann Arbor, although the structure has undergone renovations and expansions.

First of America Bank-Ann Arbor, with $1.1 billion in assets as of Dec. 31, 1993 now has 34 offices and 41 automated teller machines throughout Washtenaw, Livingston and Wayne counties.

The bank is an affiliate of First of America Bank Corp. which is headquartered in Kalamazoo, Mich. The corporation is one of the largest bank holding companies in the midwest with assets of $21 billion.

First of America has 575 offices in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois that serve more than 300 midwestern communities. The banks engage in commercial, retail and mortgage banking, provide trust, financial data processing and other financial services.

Based on net income, profitability and size of franchise, First of America is ranked among the top 35 banking companies in the U.S.

Local designer creates new projects

Versatility is the key to Chesley Odom's success.

The Belleville designer and planner, who heads Chesley Odom Design Associates, creates graphics, corporate logos, brochures, flyers and advertising materials as well as interior and exterior designs, store fronts and restaurant interiors.

"I strive for ways to improve businesses with creative services," Odom said.

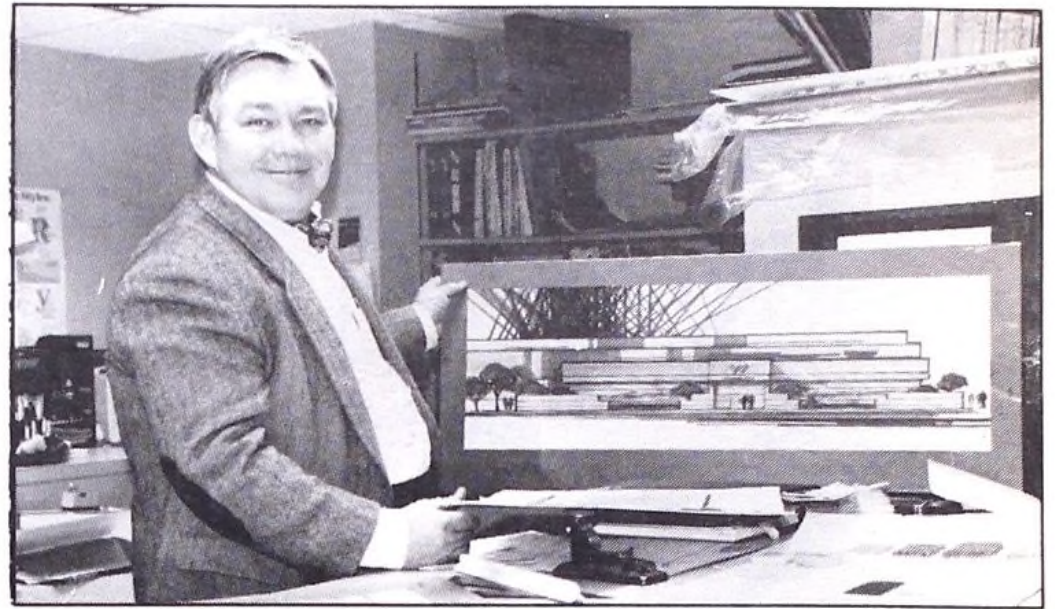

Odom has completed such diverse projects as the interior design, graphics and mural for the new City Sports Center and corporate suites at the Palace of Auburn Hills and Joe Louis Arena.

He has devoted many hours of work for his own community - designing a billboard and marquee to promote Belleville activities, drafting a facade study to upgrade the downtown business area and producing plans to enhance the new Belleville Bridge. Odom, who is chairman of the Belleville Area Council for the Arts, has been instrumental in bringing a symphony concert to the city and spearheading other cultural events.

"We do all types of custom design," Odom said. "We can create a unique corporate identity with graphics, stationery, calling cards, brochures and other materials."

The Belleville designer also has coordinated parties for the "who's who" of the metropolitan Detroit area, including an elegant reception for Barbara Bush, wife of the former president.

Atlantis provides two-day tax refund

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

It's tax season which means, once again, it's time to gather receipts and financial statements and try to put them in some sort of order.

Preparing forms for the Internal Revenue Service, however, doesn't have to be a taxing issue.

At Atlantis Investment and Tax Services, 292 south Main Street in Plymouth, experienced tax accountants are on hand to assist the needs of any client, according to Vincent Pollicella, owner of Atlantis Services.

"We offer professionally prepared income taxes," Pollicella said. "We have an electronic filing service which provides super fast refunds within two to three days."

The seven-year establishment houses an income tax consultation service where clients can either walk in or make an appointment with one of the three tax accountants.

"By appointment is preferred, however, we do accept walk ins," Pollicella said. "We have state-of-the-art equipment which means we are able to provide top-quality fast service."

Pollicella said consultations are recommended in order for clients to benefit the most from their tax return.

"There are only two companies who have been admitted to the State of Michigan electronic filing program, and we are affiliated with one of them," Pollicella said. "Within the last two years, the State of Michigan has only been offering this electronic filing system as a pilot program. Now the state is offering it commercially."

Financial and tax planning services are also available at Atlantis. "We help people minimize taxes turn prepared by Money Concepts is $45.

With more than 1,400 different investors, Wallot said he has clients who invest anywhere from $25 a month to a half million dollars.

Wallot said people should choose

Money Concepts when planning for their financial future because he is constantly receiving updated training in financing and going to a financial planner is better than receiving advice from insurance agents.

"There are a lot of insurance people who say they're financial planners, but they just want to sell insurance," Wallot said.

At Money Concepts, the customer pays nothing for the initial consultation.

"We'll help you set your goals. We'll tell you how much money you have to put away," Wallot said.

Customers receive a listing of five to 10 investment possibilities and if they decide to invest, the customer doesn't pay Money Concepts any fee because the company is reimbursed by the investment corporation.

"I'm just like a travel agency who gets paid by the airline," Wallot said.

Marygrove captures first place award in International Achievement contest

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

Livonia-based Marygrove Awning took first place in the commercial awnings category of the 1993 International Achievement Awards Competition for its wraparound awning resembling a winding, exploding piano keyboard for a 1950s-style restaurant in Northville Township.

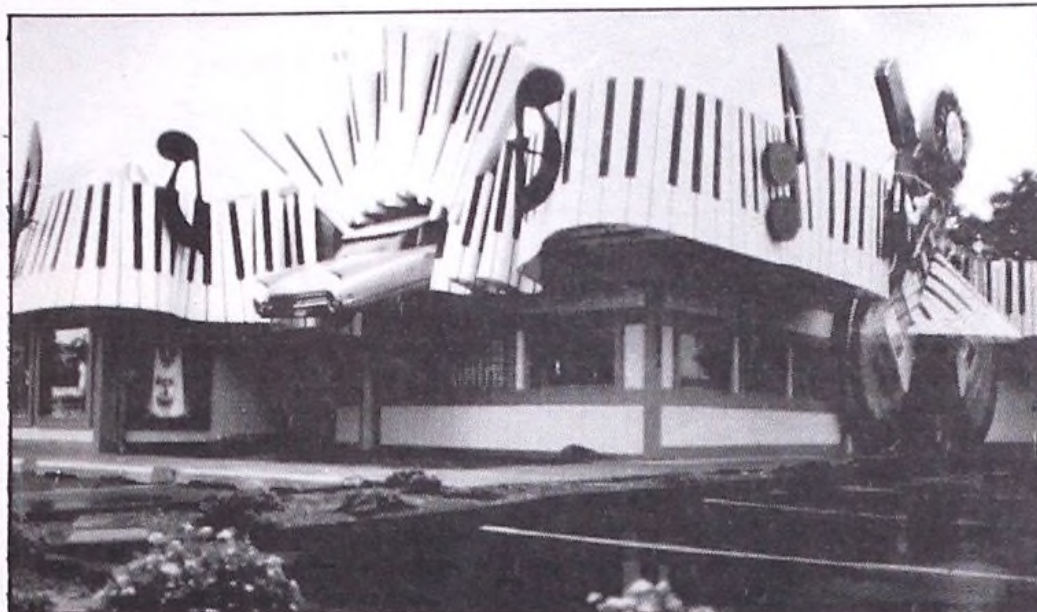

The awards, sponsored by St. Paul-based Industrial Fabrics Association International (IFAI), were announced Oct. 19.

The winning whimsical, complex fabric structure creatively hides an existing mansard roof. The framework, whose projection from the building ranges from six inches to three feet, flows around the back end of a vintage Cadillac and two huge guitars.

The annual competition recognizes the latest advances in industrial/technical fabric design and manufacturing. Judging is handled by a team of industry experts, educators, and consumer and trade publication editors.

There were 200 entries in this year's competition.

facilitating worldwide development, application and promotion of products manufactured by the technical fabrics industry.

William Bellinger, owner of Marygrove Awning, said not only do fabric awnings add to the attractiveness of a home, but the awnings can also make a home feel cooler.

"The main reason for purchasing an awning is for sun protection and cooling," Bellinger said. "People don't realize if you can stop the sun before it gets into the house, it can reduce the interior temperature by as much as 10 to 15 degrees."

By helping to reduce the interior temperature, awnings can save a homeowner 10 to 15 percent on the amount normally spent for air conditioning, according to Marygrove officials.

"Awnings do an excellent job of covering a deck or patio," Bellinger said. "People would get a lot more use with an awning over their deck."

"Another benefit is awnings would help save carpets and drapes from fading."

Fabric awnings are preferred because they breathe, allowing warm air collecting next to the window to escape, unlike plastic awnings which trap the warm air.

Other advantages of fabric awnings include the quiet they provide compared to other awnings when it rains, and fabric awnings are easier to take down in the winter months and then reinstall for the summer.

In fact, the Livonia store can provide an almost unlimited selection of fabric coverings.

The awning company is located at 12700 Merriman Road, between Plymouth and Schoolcraft roads. It has been manufacturing, selling and installing fabric awnings since 1933.

Store hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.
